REVEALS TWO JAP ARMADAS ARE SMASHED

180 Enemy Planes Beaten Off as Huge Flying Fortresses Take Heavy Toll.

HAWAII THRUST HALTED

Nimitz Says Japan Suffers Greatest Naval Disaster In Her History.

(By Associated Press)

Dramatic new accounts of the battle of Midway revealed today that American flying fortresses and other U. S. forces broke up two huge Japanese fleets, beat off an attack by 180 enemy planes and saved the Hawaiian islands from invasion.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet, said perhaps half of the enemy ships were sunk or damaged in the three-day battle which saw Japan suffer her greatest naval disaster in history.

Admiral Nimitz said thousands of Japanese must have perished—left to drown by their shipmates in flight before the Americans.

The battle ended Saturday when pursuing U. S. forces lost contact with the enemy in the darkness.

"A better show than the world series," jubilant crew members of one of the army's big B-17 bombers summed up the battle.

The two big enemy armadas approached Midway on June 3, with a train of transports striking from the west while a powerful battle squadron steamed up from another direction.

Eye-witness reports by American army, navy and marine flyers indicated there were about 20 ships in the transport force and "some 20 to 25 ships" in the battle squadron.

Marines Praised For High Courage In Midway Fight

General Emmons Headquarters, Territory of Hawaii—(AP)—Army aviators performed uncounted feats of gallantry and bravery in the battle of Midway but the boys who did them shrug them off as nothing compared to the deeds of the United States marines.

Said Col. Walter C. Sweeney, jr., commander of the flying fortress squadron: "The marines are even better than their press releases. America should be proud of them."

Every army flier who saw the marines at Midway had similar praise for their coolness, toughness, courage and willingness to sacrifice their own lives. Only a portion of the story of what the marines did can yet be told.

One army pilot who led a low-level attack on a Japanese carrier through devastating anti-aircraft fire and fighter opposition said: "I can't get over those young

Further War Chest Plans At Meeting

Fund Directors Propose Program; Committee to Meet on It.

First steps toward the organization of a war chest for Mansfield had been taken today by the executive board of the Mansfield Community Fund in order to incorporate all worthy drives for funds, exclusive of the Red Cross, into one major campaign during the national emergency.

Action by the board to "offer its facilities, its services and its leadership in the organization and conduct a community war chest, to function for the period of the emergency," was taken Wednesday afternoon at the June board meeting held at Fund headquarters.

Preliminary plans for the war chest campaign which probably will be held in November were discussed by the board, under the leadership of the president, Robert C. Remy, after it was pointed out that the city last year contributed $138,977 to war relief drives alone. This was exclusive of the $25,000 "continuation drive" held by the Community Fund in the spring.

Jane Williams, Community Fund executive secretary, who has been studying the war chests set up by other Ohio cities, told the board that the first war chest goal apparently would not need to exceed $135,000, judging from the individual drive quotas of the past year.

This amount would only be one-third of that raised by Mansfield in 1918 when the city subscribed $390,000 to its first war chest against a goal of $250,000. The total subscription at that time represented only 17,000 donors.

By establishing a war chest the public will not only by protected against such appeals as may not be worthy, the board pointed out, but the cost of making necessary appeals will be reduced.

Plans for the 1942 war chest will be furthered Monday at 4 p. m., when the Community Fund executive board meets again to discuss the organization of a war chest committee. This committee will be representative of various Mansfield organizations and

PLANT BLASTED

One Killed, 25 Hurt in Paint Factory Explosion.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (INS) — One man was killed and 25 others injured today when an explosion of paint dryer rocked a northside Pittsburgh plant as firemen were fighting flames in the basement of the building.

Thirteen of those hurt were firemen, most of whom were trapped in the basement of the Watson-Standard Paint company when the blast let loose. Spectators and firemen outside were seared by flames which leaped 30 feet from the cellar window.

The force of the explosion tore apart the rubber boots worn by the fire fighters and ripped their metal helmets into shreds.

RETURN TO JOBS

Women Employes Go Back to Work at Goodyear Plant.

AKRON — (U.P.) — Women employes of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company were back at their jobs on defense materials today under a truce in a labor dispute to permit settlement negotiations.

U. S. Conciliator Paul W. Fuller met with officials of the company and the United Rubber Workers local union. The dispute was reported to center on a shift from day to piece work pay rates.

VOTES TAX INCREASE

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The house ways and means committee voted today to increase the federal excise tax on cigarets by one-half cent a package, which would make a seven-cent tax for each package.

British King Inspects U. S. Naval Power

GRAND JURORS MEET JUNE 22

Reformatory Murder Case and Manslaughter Charge Up For Investigation.

The Richland county grand jury will be called into session June 22 or 23 to investigate the county's first murder case in three years. At least 19 other cases are scheduled for hearing at the session.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz said the jury will probe the fatal stabbing of Charles Dickerson, 31, Mansfield reformatory inmate, June 1 at the institution. Held on a first degree murder charge in connection with the stabbing is Ernest Moore, 19, another inmate.

The last murder case tried in Richland county was in June 1939, when June Allen, colored, Mansfield was sentenced to life in the Marysville reformatory for shooting a colored man.

Moore, whose home is in Corbin, Ky., has been held in the county jail since the night of the stabbing. A charge filed by the prosecutor accuses him of wounding Dickerson 13 times with a knife fashioned from a pair of scissors. Reformatory officials said they believed Moore attacked the older inmate because he thought Dickerson had reported him to institution authorities for infraction of the rules.

CRASH TOLL 12

Navy Abandons Hope for Eight Missing in Blimp Wreck.

LAKEHURST, N. J.—(INS)—Death toll in the crash of the navy blimp G-1 into the Atlantic off the coast of New Jersey on Monday night was set at 12 today as Lakehurst naval air station officials announced that all hope had been abandoned for eight missing men.

Four bodies were recovered after the crash from which only one man escaped alive.

U. S. Naval Units Join British In German Blockade

LONDON — (AP) — Powerful United States naval units have joined the British home fleet in the tasks of blockading the Germans and protecting naval Allied shipping lanes by keeping Adolf Hitler's mightiest warships from joining the battle of the Atlantic.

The American forces, whose arrival was announced today, apparently are sufficiently strong to cope with the German super-battleship Tirpitz, the cruiser Admiral Hipper and other lesser craft should they venture forth from Norwegian bases which threaten Russia's Arctic supply line.

The full strength of the American units, described officially as a "task force," was not revealed, but some indication of their power was given by the disclosure that King George VI had inspected a United States battleship, a cruiser and several destroyers.

MERCURY SOARS

Season's Heat Record on Way, Showers May Interfere.

Unless a thundershower interrupts the mercury's afternoon climb, today was expected to set a season's heat mark in Mansfield.

The temperature stood at 87 at noon, only two degrees below yesterday's high, and it was expected to pass the 90-degree mark before evening. The weatherman saw no immediate relief from the heat in sight, but predicted scattered thunderstorms for this afternoon and tonight.

Mansfielders sweltered through another sultry night last night as the mercury remained above 68 degrees, giving the city a 24-hour average of 78.5 degrees, 13 above normal. A brisk wind helped to dispel some of the discomfort today.

Jeeps Coming to Mansfield Tomorrow, So Be Down Town

DEADLINE NEAR, 5 MORE FILE

County, District Candidates Present Petitions; Friday Last Day for Filing.

With only one more day left to file nominating petitions, five more candidates for Richland county and 17th congressional district offices had filed today with the county election board and a Mansfield Republican announced for county auditor.

Alden H. Heath, an accountant for the North American Knitting company, will be the G. O. P. candidate for auditor, party leaders said. He had obtained petitions today and was expected to file before the deadline at 6:30 p. m. Friday. His candidacy will complete the party ticket for the primary.

A. Ross Siverling, Ashland county prosecutor since 1934, filed late yesterday for congress on the Democratic ticket. Samuel A. Anderson, Newark service director, filed for the Democratic nomination several days ago. Siverling has been practicing law for nine years.

Ralph Lutz, Lexington, filed his petition for the Democratic nomination for state representative, an office he held for three terms. John L. Catlett, the Republican incumbent, has filed for re-nomination for representative. He has served one term.

Circus Comes to Town, Monkeys and Hippo In 'Accident

Cole Brothers circus came to town today—but not without incident.

It was one of those things that circus men regard as part of a day's work.

And several hundred persons who milled around the railroad siding north of Orange street where the 30-car train arrived shortly before 9 a. m., were treated to their own show.

It all happened when two wagons being pulled by a truck to the fairground, where the performance will be held this afternoon and this evening, swerved and came near tumbling into the Rocky Fork creek.

The wagons came to a stop just as the front wheels started over the bank along the creek.

It might have been passed by without much attention, except that one of the wagons was loaded with monkeys and the other held a hippopotamus, whose weight circus workmen said amounted to about two tons.

Workmen detached four of the wagons and they were sent on their way while a circus wrecker

RUBBER DRIVE HALTS PLAN ON GAS RATIONING

ROSENWALD IN CHARGE

FDR Representative Declares Program To Be Launched Within 10 Days.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Plans for nation-wide gasoline rationing were temporarily shunted aside today as the country awaited a White House announcement on details of the gigantic scrap rubber collection campaign scheduled to get under way "within 10 days."

A presidential representative at the weekly meeting of the war production board reported that the whirlwind campaign, expected to reach into every household, shop and plant in America, would be launched "right away—within 10 days."

The official also disclosed that J. Lessing Rosenwald, chief of the WPB's bureau of industrial conservation, would direct the all-out drive to collect every possible ounce of scrap rubber in the country.

It was learned that the nation's 250,000 service stations would serve as "collection depots" where civilians may deposit old hot water bottles, galoshes, discarded tires and other items.

Rosenwald's bureau has been busily engaged for several weeks preparing an over-all salvage campaign that would embrace rubber, metals, rags, fats and oils and every other commodity in which a war shortage exists.

At the president's insistence, however, officials revised plans and prepared to go ahead immediately with the rubber campaign in order to end existing confusion and determine exactly how much scrap rubber was available. Estimates have ranged from 700,000 to 10,000,000 tons.

FROM BRAZIL

Sub Commander Gives Coffee To Survivors of Sinking.

AN EAST PORT—(INS)—Gift of a pound of coffee, whose label indicated it came from Santos, Brazil, to survivors of a small United States freighter sunk with the loss of one life in the south Atlantic from the commander of an Axis submarine was disclosed by the navy today.

The ship, according to stories told by the 36 survivors, was sunk by shell fire about ten days ago. When the crew took to their lifeboats, the sub commander drew alongside and presented them with two gallons of water, the coffee and set their course for an east coast port.

Chief Engineer W. C. Edwards said the captain, who was not identified, was killed in a 45-minute gun battle between the ship and the U-boat.

SUBS SINK 3

Fishing Boats, Merchant Ship Sent To Bottom of Atlantic.

BOSTON — (U.P.) — Two small Gloucester fishing boats and a British merchant ship were added today to the toll of the Atlantic coast submarine warfare announced by the navy department.

The wooden fishing craft were sunk by an Axis submarine about 65 miles off the New England coast June 2. The attacked shelled the craft and the crews—totaling 14—abandoned their boats before they were sent to the bottom.

SWEDISH FLIERS KILLED

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — Four members of the crew of a Swedish plane were killed Tuesday when the plane crashed during manuevers over Nykoeping, on the Swedish East coast, it was announced today.

FDR, Molotov In Accord on New Drive at Nazis

London Announces Signing of 20-Year Mutual Assistance Pact With Reds; Eden Says Action Follows Plan Of Famed Atlantic Charter.

(By Associated Press)

The United States, Great Britain and Russia were officially disclosed today to have reached a "full understanding" on "the urgent task of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

A White House announcement, issued simultaneously with a British statement in London, said President Roosevelt and Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov had reached agreement regarding the problem of launching a mighty Allied offensive against Germany.

It did not state specifically, however, when or if the three powers had decided to open a second front—merely emphasizing the "urgent task" of creating a new front.

Simultaneously, the British announced the signing of a 20-year mutual assistance treaty with Russia.

The new British-Russian treaty pledged the two powers not to seek territorial aggrandizement for themselves" after the war and to a policy of "not interfering in the internal affairs of other states."

Revelation that Russia's Foreign Commissar Molotov had come to the United States after the negotiations in London led to speculation that he might be arranging a similar pact with the United States.

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden said the new Anglo-Soviet pact was signed May 26.

Eden said the pact was directed "against Hitlerite Germany" and that the signatory powers pledged themselves to rebuild post-war Europe on the design of the famous Atlantic charter signed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

The pact provides for "common action to preserve peace and resist aggression in the post-war period" and pledges the nations "not to enter into any negotiations" with the Hitler regime or any German government which fails to renounce aggression.

Japan was not mentioned in the treaty.

Eden said that Molotov had arrived in London May 21 and the 20-year agreement was signed five days later, just before Molotov left for the United States.

Molotov agreed to the treaty on the evening of May 25 after three days of discussion.

The treaty was signed by Eden and Molotov with a gold mounted fountain pen belonging to Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Britain and Russia agreed to render one another "all

Report Goering Foresees Nazi Defeat, Plots 'Peace'

LONDON—(INS)—A Reuter's dispatch from the French frontier today quoted informed observers as saying that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and his followers already foresee Germany's defeat and are plotting to save themselves from the consequences.

In the Goering group were said to be leading industrialists and a number of generals who some time ago were reported to have contacted certain firms in United Nations territory with a view to arranging a compromise peace.

A new move along similar lines was declared to be under way at present.

CAPTURE: Bir Hacheim Falls. Nazis Claim; British Deny It

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's high command asserted today that Axis troops had captured Bir Hacheim, southern anchor of the 50-mile British defense line in North Africa, while British headquarters declared that Free French defenders had beaten off a new series of assaults on the key outpost.

The Nazi communique said:

"The fort of Bir Hacheim, southern pillar of the British defensive system, was this morning taken by storm after several days of bitter resistance by strong enemy units encircled there."

The Free French commander of the garrison had previously rejected six Axis demands for surrender.

Confirmation of the German claim was lacking elsewhere and like past Nazi claims may be premature. London military quarters said they had no information to substantiate the German report.

British general headquarters said British armored and motorized forces, supported by RAF planes, aided the Free French in repulsing Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's furious tank assaults on Bir Hacheim all day yesterday.

The German claim, if true, apparently would mean that the British flank had been placed in considerable danger and might mean a rearrangement of the whole British front.

British military circles, conceding the possibility that Bir Hacheim had fallen, said the immediate effect would be to relieve Marshal Rommel's supply difficulties around the British left flank.

These quarters said the position was not regarded as vital to

HYBRID VEHICLE PUZZLES BOARD

CHESTER, Ill.—(U.P.)—Bob McIntyre, a farmer of nearby Sparta, has stumped the Randolph county tire rationing board.

He applied for a new tire for a vehicle which he uses to haul milk to market. His vehicle consisted of an auto chassis equipped with a wagon bed, to which he hitches a team of horses for motive power.

The board was doubtful whether he could buy a new tire because they knew of no classification for that type of vehicle. His request was submitted to state headquarters.

U. S., Britain, Russia Reach 'Front' Accord

possible economic assistance after the war" and to avoid participation in any alliance directed against the other contracting power.

In the reconstruction of Europe, the two nations agreed to be guided by the principles of "not seeking territorial aggrandizement for themselves" and "not interfering in the internal affairs of other states," Eden said.

The two countries have agreed, Eden said, that they would "work for the organization of security and economic prosperity" in Europe, taking into account the interests of the United Nations.

Britain and Russia are willing "to unite with other like-minded states in adopting proposals for common action to preserve peace and resist aggression," Eden said, forecasting a post-war organization similar to the league of nations.

Eden said the treaty would remain in force until Russia and Britain recognize it has been "superceded by adoption of proposals for a long-term system of international security" but in default of such proposals "it shall remain in force for a period of 20 years and thereafter until terminated by either of the contracting parties."

U. S. Ambassador John G Winant was in the diplomats gallery of the house of commons when Eden made the announcement.

He heard the foreign secretary declare the "whole terms of the agreement" were published in a white paper and "there are no secret engagements or committments of any kind whatsoever."

Eden's disclosure that Molotov had been in Washington was accompanied by the comment that the Soviet commissar held "most useful and satisfactory talks with the president"

The White House, in a formal statement disclosing that Molotov had visited this country, gave no additional details on a second front.

The American president and the Russian commissar, the White House said, also attained a "unity" of views on two other vital questions pertaining to their war efforts.

"Measures for increasing and speeding up the supplies of planes, tanks and other kinds of war materials" from the United States to Russia, and the "fundamental problems' of cooperation of the Soviet Union and the United States in safeguarding peace and security to the freedom loving peoples after the war."

"Both sides state with satisfaction,' the statement declared, "the unity of their views on all these questions."

Molotov, bespectacled, 52-year-old right-hand man of Premier Joseph Stalin, arrived in Washington on May 29 and left on June 4. He now is safely back home, the White House said.

The statement released today was approved by both Molotov and Mr. Roosevelt and withheld until the former had returned The discussions entered into while the foreign commissary was a secret guest at the White House apparently ranged over the whole field of military and economic problems of mutual concern to the two nations.

Mr. Roosevelt, at their conclusion, asked Molotov to inform Stalin that the chief executive "feels these conversations have been most useful in establishing a basis for fruitful and closer relationship between the two governments in the pursuit of the common objectives of the United States."

The members of the official Soviet mission to this country were not announced, the White House statement referring only to the Molotov "party."

But participating in the discussions here were Maxim Litvinoff Soviet ambassador to the United States, whom Molotov succeeded as foreign commissar in April, 1939; Harry Hopkins, key adviser to the president on supply problems; General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the army; Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the navy; and, in the non-military zone of conversations, Secretary of State Hull.

4 More Stations Open for Sugar Registrations

Opening of canning sugar registration points in four Richland county communities — Bellville, Butler, Lucas, and Ontario, for the convenience of residents of those vicinities, was announced today by James Bailey, county rationing coordinator.

"With strawberries already in, we are opening these new registration places in order to get sugar to the people just as quickly as we can," Bailey said.

The new registration points and the hours they will be open daily are as follows:

Bellville town hall, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily; Butler council room, 4 p. m. to 9 p. m daily, Lucas high school, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily; and Ontario school, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

Registration meanwhile is continuing at John Simpson Junior high school and at the county courthouse. At the former, today's registration is for persons whose names start with G and H; tomorrow's for the I; J, and K classification. At the courthouse, the registration today is for residents of Perry, Troy, and Washington townships, and tomorrow for residents of Jefferson, Worthington, and Monroe townships. Hours at both points are from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

Yesterday's registration at John Simpson totalled 736, and at the courthouse 300.

GAS RATIONING PLAN DEFERRED

Will Be Held Up Pending Big Drive to Collect Scrap Rubber.

Original plans called for a $2,000,000 advertising campaign by newspaper and radio, with the funds supplied by rubber, oil and other interested industries.

It was reported that a rubber recovery corporation also would be created within the reconstruction finance corporation to finance the program and defray transportation costs on shipping the scrap from collection points to reclaiming factories.

Secretary of Commerce Jones already has announced an increase in price for scrap rubber to $25 a ton in order to stimulate collection. The previous government ceiling was $18.

The bureau of conservation has a nation-wide network of local and state salvage committees in operation and it was through these agencies that the drive for waste-paper quickly was put "over the top"

With the nation's war planners concentrating on the scrap rubber campaign, officials momentarily shelved national gasoline rationing, deferring action on this controversial issue until after the rubber drive is completed. The president expressed the hope that the campaign could be conducted in two weeks.

The war production board acted, however, to alleviate the east coast petroleum shortage but promised no relief for motorists in the 17 Atlantic states from Maine to Florida who have experienced gasoline rationing since the middle of last month.

Marines Praised For High Courage In Midway Fight

marine pilots, many of them kids just out of flying school.

"One marine pilot couldn't get his wheels retracted after the takeoff, so he was unable to fight. Instead of flying away from the battle area he stayed at 48 feet above the water. He let a Zero fighter get on his tail, then led it over our anti-aircraft which shot it down. Then he did the same stunt with another Jap.

"Before the fight started we were boasting with marine dive bomber pilots—it was just beer talk—over what we would do to the Japs. They told us: 'We'll cripple every one of their carriers and you sink them.' As it turned out we hit the Japs first. But when those marine pilots came back they told us they had kept their word and hit every single carrier they had sighted."

Another army pilot said:

"When we landed after bombing the Jap fleet the morning of June 4 we found Midway had been attacked. Many of the marines were dead but the survivors were the coolest and most determined bunch of men I ever saw.

"Gunners were sitting around patting their guns, picking their teeth, glaring skyward and saying to one another: "I wish those —— would come back soon.'

"We expected them back at any moment and were hurrying to get off again. We knew if we made it we would be okay. But those marines weren't going anywhere. It was their job to stick and fight, if necessary to the death. There's never been anything like it."

the British campaign, whose main goal is to destroy the Axis armored forces.

In the Russian campaign, bitter fighting raged in the seven-day-old German offensive against Sevastopol, Russia's big Crimean naval base, with 10 Nazi divisions of perhaps 150,000 troops thrown into the attack.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, which yesterday claimed that Axis siege forces had lunged deep into Sevastopol's fortification system, declared today that the Russians were making "desperate" counter-attacks and were being repulsed.

Sevastopol is the last Soviet stronghold in the Crimea, and apparently Hitler is intent on knocking it out before attempting a thrust into the Caucasus oil fields to the east

Soviet dispatches said the Axis drive against Sevastopol was stalled, but acknowledged that the German armies again had taken the initiative in the battle-scared sector of Kharkov, Russia's "Pittsburgh" in the Ukraine, 400 miles south of Moscow.

A Red army communique reported tersely that "a battle took place" around Kharkov. No details were given.

With the Germans striking at three major points, from Sevastopol in the south to Murmansk in the far north Soviet dispatches suggested that Hitler at last was getting his summer campaign under way after being hurled back for almost six months.

Neutral observers doubted, however, that Hitler had started a full-size blitz offensive along the whole front.

In aerial warfare, RAF night raiders attacked German airdromes in the low countries and military targets in Nazi-occupied France. Bad weather prevented long-range forays against Germany for the second night in a row

Other RAF bombers raided the big Taranto naval base, in southeast Italy, for the third successive night.

Report Rommel Uses Refrigerated Tanks

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—DNB quoted well-informed circles as saying today that Marshal Rommel's operations in Libya owe much of their "extraordinary success" to refrigerated tanks

(Temperatures inside ordinary tanks in Libya have been reported as high as 120 degrees, Fahrenheit)

"This new construction, using a type of gas refrigerator known all over the world and being coupled between the motor and the refrigerator," DNB says, "creates a cool interior for the tank even at the hottest outer temperature."

Other cases to be taken before the jury include a charge of shooting with intent to wound against John Bonner, colored, Mansfield, as the result of a fray several weeks ago in a tavern, and a perjury charge against Harold McClellan, Mansfield.

McClellan is accused of giving false evidence at a municipal court hearing of charges of driving with an obstructed view. He testified that he was riding alone and it developed that there were four girls with him.

U. S. REVEALS STORY OF BIG SEA VICTORY

Two Jap Invasion Fleets Smashed as Foe Suffers Greatest Disaster.

blow, U. S. Army bombers made first contact with the enemy far west of Midway on the afternoon of June 3. This was apparently the Japanese transport column.

In medium altitude attacks, braving a terrific barrage of anti-aircraft fire, the army planes hit and set fire to a Japanese cruiser or battleship and also left a transport and a destroyer in flames.

The following morning, June 4, U. S. Marine dive-bombers and army flying fortresses smashed at the Japanese battle fleet 150 miles off Midway and inflicted heavy damage on the enemy. Full details have not yet been released.

Col Walter C Sweeney, jr., of San Francisco, who led a squadron of flying fortresses in attacks on June 3 and 4, gave this graphic description:

"There was a big battle line, with destroyers outside, then cruisers, battleships and away back the carriers which we picked for our target

"We got at least one definite hit on the port bow of the carrier and saw flame and smoke of the explosion.

"A few zeros (Japanese navy fighters) came up at us . . . but we lost them quickly due to our speed and their faintheartedness"

While Americans thrilled to new details of the crushing Japanese defeat, with the full story yet to be told, Japan's version of the battle ballooned to fantastic proportions.

Vice Admiral Ichiro Sato, a member of the Japanese naval general staff, blandly asserted that Admiral Yamamoto's fleet had made "a decisive advance toward absolute mastery of the sea" by inflicting "smashing blows" on U S naval forces at Midway and Dutch Harbor

Domei, the Japanese news agency, quoted Sato as boasting that "as a result of its defeat, the United States must abandon its plan to aid Australia aggressively and must devote itself to the simple defending of its own shores.

"He said Australia has been 'orphaned' while the Panama canal has become exposed to attack."

But the Japanese people were not told that their fleet, battered and broken, was limping toward the refuge of a base after breaking off battle contact Saturday night.

Other developments in the far Pacific theater included:

China war front: China's bloody five-year-old war with Japan has cost the Japanese more than 2,000,000 killed and wounded up to the end of 1941, the Chinese ministry of information announced in London today.

Chinese casualties have been at least as great, a spokesman said, but Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has more than 300 divisions under arms, with 5,000,000 soldiers in the field and 10,000,000 more men behind the lines.

On the fighting front, Chinese dispatches reported that the ancient walled city of Chulsien, key rail center in western Chekiang province, "is still in our hands" despite heavy attacks by Japanese invasion columns.

Battle of Australia: Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced the probable sinking of another Japanese submarine—the ninth enemy underseas raider destroyed in Australian waters recently—and reported new Allied air attacks on enemy bases.

Now Japs Admit Two Carriers Lost

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts)—(AP)—Japan's leading civilian naval expert, Masanori Ito, said today that 'in view of the great success" of the Japanese in the battle of the Pacific "we should not be disappointed at the loss of two aircraft carriers, for the gain is far greater than the loss"

(This was the first authoritative suggestion from Tokyo that two of the imperial navy's carriers had been sunk, as officially claimed by the United States. It represented a shift from Tokyo imperial headquarters' admission that one had been sunk and another severely damaged.)

Ito declared that the Midway and Aleutian attacks of the Japanese were a "coup de grace" for the United States aircraft carrier force while, he said, the Japanese fleet remained only slightly affected.

His interpretation of the battle was broadcast by Domei, Japanese news agency.

"Even if Japanese army forces had not occupied key points—which they did, and the operations reportedly are still progressing in the Aleutian group—the naval operation in this area would have been particularly significant in that it destroyed important military objectives which otherwise could have been made a foothold for air-raiding Japan," Domei quoted Ito

(The United States has denied that there was any Japanese landing in the Aleutians, so this claim by the Japanese would seem essentially to reflect concern over raids on the Japanese home islands)

Half of Jap Armada Casualties of Fight

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii—(AP)—Probably half of a Japanese invasion armada of more than 30 warships were casualties in the running sea battle with victorious American forces off Midway last week, Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet disclosed.

Final results of the battle, which ended in a rout of the Japanese, still haven't been tallied, but Nimitz said yesterday thousands of Japanese must have perished—left to drown by their shipmates on the run before the Americans.

The battle ended Saturday when the pursuing Americans lost contact with the enemy in the darkness.

Nimitz listed American losses in the three-day battle as one destroyer, one aircraft carrier damaged, and the loss of an undisclosed number of planes.

Against this, he reported Japanese losses as two and perhaps three aircraft carriers sunk with all of their planes; one destroyer sunk and three battleships and eight to 11 other ships damaged.

Campaign To Salvage Scrap Rubber

OLD RUBBER is the next thing to be salvaged from cellars, attics and scrap heaps all over the United States—in the hope of thus alleviating the rubber shortage to the extent of retaining at least a semblance of the "individual transportation" to which the people of this country have become accustomed.

President Roosevelt has endorsed a nation-wide rubber salvage campaign, for the purpose of learning just how much rubber tonnage can be made available to supplement natural and synthetic rubber stocks.

Estimates vary as to the amount of scrap rubber that can be salvaged, wildest of these being 10,000,000 tons, which would anticipate an average of about 500 pounds from the premises of every family in the United States—which is approximately 50 tires, or their equivalent in hot water bottles or discarded overshoes and galoshes.

Whatever can be done in providing scrap rubber for re-processing should be done, and people will again respond to this call as they have to others, but there is also need for clearer explanation of what is actually being done by agencies of government to expedite production of the various kinds of widely heralded synthetics—of which much is heard but little known.

Airport Improvements Needed Now

URGENT NEED for improved facilities at Mansfield airport has become so generally recognized that it may be hoped members of city council will proceed immediately with the inspection suggested by Councilman Knarr, so that they may become better informed on present conditions at the port and learn, from capable persons, just how present and future appropriations of public money for airport improvements can be most effectively expended.

Whatever justification there may have been for complaint about wasteful expenditures on the airport property during early stages of its development, the fact remains that there are many things yet to be done in meeting specifications of a modern port.

Entirely aside from the peace-time needs for an adequately equipped airport, the war has brought additional requirements and responsibilities along this line, and the ineptness with which the situation is being handled is a matter of more than local concern.

Buy a Bond, Ride In a 'Jeep'

PRIMARILY designed to promote interest in the purchase of War Savings Bonds, tomorrow's visit of a fleet of "Jeeps" to Mansfield will also serve to gratify public curiosity as to the appearance and performance of these war-inspired motor vehicles.

A ride in a "Jeep" will make Friday, June 12, 1942, a day to be remembered—and all that need to be done to enjoy this unique experience will be to buy a War Savings Bond tomorrow.

Also befitting the occasion, will be display of flags in the business district, not only as an expression of patriotic co-operation in this bond-selling activity but also as a preliminary to next Sunday's observance of Flag day.

Keep Parks Clean and Beautiful

THE OUTDOOR season is now approaching its height and during the next three months Mansfield's public parks will be used and appreciated even more than in past seasons when it was easier to go greater distances for a day's outing or an evening picnic.

A phase of park beautification and upkeep to which not enough attention is paid is the duty of all who enjoy the facilities of publicly-owned parks to share in the responsibility of keeping the grounds free from litter and to guard against damage to trees, shrubbery, flowers or other park property.

Wilful destruction of attractions or conveniences in a public park manifests an odd quirk of "human nature" which is almost as strange behavior as stealing flowers or containers from graves in a cemetery.

A wise magistrate in the Bronx borough of New York City ordered four boys who had been brought up on charges of trampling shrubbery to write essays on "The Responsibility of Citizens to Parks." The essays were excellent and the boys promised to tell their classmates what they had learned in the process of writing them, and sentences were suspended. One essay said: "Parks have a purpose—the pleasure and enjoyment of the citizens. In return for the use of the parks, all a citizen is asked to do is conduct himself properly while using them."

Another boy said parks were public possessions, the property and responsibility of all citizens. When parks are damaged taxes go up. A third called on all to help in "the establishment of justice and promotion of general welfare." The fourth said the parks were "to beautify the city and add color to it, that they keep children off the streets and out of danger."

He Found Something To Do

COL. HARRY G. BARTLETT, retired from the service seven years ago, and unable to get back in any capacity, was determined to do something, no matter what. He is doing something useful for the country and setting other people an example.

The country is full of men like that. Not all of them, however, have Col Bartlett's perseverance and his willingness to strike out on a new line.

A LITTLE DIETING MIGHT HELP

Steel Is Needed to Combat Subs

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—The lack of knowledge on the part of most of the public about the steel situation is amazing government officials here. It crops up in demands for pipe lines, in talk about construction of steel barges instead of wooden or concrete, and in half a dozen other ways.

Let's consider President Roosevelt's program in this connection. Despite a very general impression to the contrary, the ship building objectives of that program are much nearer attainment than ANY OTHER division, satisfactory as some of them, notably airplanes, are.

Now one of the objectives, though not carried in the various tables printed at the time he laid down the program, is steel production. There had to be enough steel to produce all the cargo ships, tankers, war ships of all sorts, tanks, guns, etc., desired by the president.

But while it was not included in the tables published, or mentioned over the radio by the president, obviously the size of the program for finished products set a very definite goal for steel.

That program is coming along so well that present indications are that there will be a little more steel than is vitally needed for the various quotas of ships, guns, tanks, etc. So the problem now is: what shall we do with the surplus of steel, if we are lucky enough to get a surplus?

ONE thing can be stated positively. Very little of it will go for pipe lines. It is needed too badly for other things. Very little of it will go for tanks and guns, not because we would not like to have more, but because it is touch and go whether there will reach the quota anyhow. In short we will not have that option.

So it come down to this: We will use that extra steel, if we get it, to combat the submarine menace—to keep our supply lines open to the various parts of the world where we have fighting men, and allies anxious to get our supplies. Particularly to Britain and Russia.

Continuance of anything like the present rate of sinkings will result in our reaching, very soon, a situation where we can produce more war supplies than we can ship.

Which means that we have no choice but to do something about the shipping problem, instead of diverting the steel to other war implements. But now arises another alternative. Shall we use that steel for tankers and cargo ships, so as to provide tonnage to carry the supplies, or shall we use it for destroyers, corvettes and torpedo boats to attack the submarines and to convoy our shipments?

THE president's inclination to favor the use of this steel for war vessels to attack submarines instead of more merchant ships for them was stated in these dispatches recently. Yet there is still talk about using steel for pipe lines, and still talk about increasing the rate of cargo ship and tanker construction.

Best judgment in Washington is that the president's decision will be to use it for sub chasers, of the various types, rather than for sub targets.

Donald E. Ackerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ackerman, 39 Penn avenue, was appointed as research chemist at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh.

Miss Anna Klippel took position as organist at St. Matthew's Lutheran church.

Miss Pearl Danbeck was among graduates at Ohio State university.

Music pupils at St. Peter's Catholic school gave annual recital.

S. N. Ford was improving after serious illness at his home on North Diamond street.

Sale of lots in Rhodes Heights allotment, West Fourth street road, was started.

According to Vaughn Bates, "dime novels" were still in demand, although the price had advanced to 15 and 25 cents.

Tornado swept Buckeye Lake park, near Newark, killing three persons.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Alexander Hamilton fell mortally wounded from a shot fired by Aaron Burr in the famous duel fought on July 11, 1804. Burr, a brilliant but unprincipled politician, while still vice president, had offered himself as a candidate for the governorship of New York and it was through Hamilton's effort that he was defeated. Seeking to avenge the defeat Burr challenged Hamilton to a duel thus bringing about the death of the popular Hamilton and hastening the end of his own political fortunes.

Recipe for Courage

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NOT MUCH fun living, these days. Mighty drab and discouraging business. And the letters come in by the scores and the hundreds, wondering how they'll go on.

There's Martha, for instance. Next year her boy will be of draft age. She'll still young herself—young enough to wait with the old thrill of expectation . . . the joy of being in a loved, familiar place. Then she remembers—

And life goes gray.

Yet somehow she must make a go of it, hide the sick weariness that is creeping over her, manage to laugh, to pretend she has zest, to go on with the old chores cheerfully. And so she writes what might well be a cry from a million more who are caught in the same cruel trap.

"How can I do it," she cries. "I love my country. I suppose I'm patriotic. But I can't look at this war blindly as my mother did. We can't sentimentalize. We've been too disillusioned, we who saw the last war. Patriotism has lost its glamor and its comfort. One needs something grimmer—courage, I suppose. But where to get it? Where do you get yours, Elsie—you who must see so much suffering."

Lady, I don't get it. I just go on without it . . . making the motions.

I think we've all been misled about the business of courage. We've thought of it as a tangible thing whose flame we should feel literally running through our veins. Something as real as steel armor . . . something that was guaranteed to soften shocks and ward off the horror. And so we've admired and envied "brave and courageous" people and we have gone out into life expecting to find such protection for ourselves.

But I doubt if there are any really brave people. I doubt if there is such a thing as actual courage. I think there are just decent folk who go ahead doing the job that must be done and keeping their gripes to themselves. Inside they're quaking as desperately as the rest of us . . . hating what lies before them . . . longing as deeply to be home and out of it all.

BUT NONE OF US CAN BE "OUT OF IT ALL." WE'RE ALL DRAFTED. WE'RE ALL FRIGHTENED AND 'BEWILDERED, SICK WITH REBELLION AND DISGUST

WE AREN'T BRAVE.

BUT WE CAN CHOOSE TO MAKE THE MOTIONS.

WE HAVEN'T COURAGE — NOT REALLY—

BUT WE HAVE CAUGHT A GLIMPSE OF ITS SPLENDOR . . . WE KNOW IT IS THE FINEST AND MOST GALLANT THING IN LIFE, THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE—

AND SO WE BRACE OUR CHINS AND DOUBLE OUR FISTS AND GO AHEAD.

That's all I know about courage. If there are easier, more spontaneous forms, I wish someone would send me the recipe. In the meantime I'll just have to go on being yellow. But I'm darned if I'll let anyone know it!

Timely Editorial

Gasoline And Taxes.

Aside from the boundless inconvenience and economic ruin national gasoline rationing will cause there will also be a huge tax loss. This would be most awkward at this time.

In Ohio alone the loss in revenue would be staggering. Calculated on the same rationing basis as now in effect on the east coast, the revenue loss in a year's time would be $5,288,000 to the state general fund; $8,922,000 to the state highway department; $3,966,000 to counties and townships, and $2,974,000 to the municipalities. At the same time the federal government would lose $7,930,000.

Each gallon of gasoline pumped into a motorist's tank calls for the payment of 5½ cents tax. It is one of those so-called hidden taxes which has poured a steady stream of revenue into the treasuries of local, state and national governments and has aided immensely in carrying on the many expanding activities.—Ohio State Journal.

President Is Expected to Deliver 'Fireside Chat' on Gas Rationing

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The president has been given some blunt advice to deliver a "fireside chat" to explain the much bemuddled rubber and gas situation.

The advice was given at a recent White House conference by Donald Nelson, Leon Henderson, Archie MacLeish and Undersecretary of War Patterson, all of whom agreed that the people had been so confused by conflicting official pronouncements, and that only the president himself could clarify matters and explain why national rationing of gas is essential.

The answer to this is so simple that it seems fantastic that it hasn't been got over to the public. There is plenty of gas in the U. S.—except along the Atlantic seaboard—but real crux of gas rationing is the desperate shortage of rubber. That is the whole story in a nutshell.

Every responsible official in Washington, including the president, knows this. Yet a multitude of conflicting statements have befuddled the public and played directly into the hands of certain selfish oil interests opposed to gas rationing.

This fact was politely but bluntly impressed on the president at the White House conference.

Actually, he himself was guilty of one of the worst bemuddling statements—his press conference remark that the rubber situation was being exaggerated, because some substitute for tires undoubtedly would be invented. This cheerio observation was made exactly two days after Donald Nelson and his rubber experts told the press that no substitute for rubber was in sight.

Telling the President.

THE White House conferees spoke plainly, particularly Leon Henderson who has been getting most of the brickbats on gas rationing.

"I'm taking the rap, Mr. President," he said, "and personally, I can take it. But there is more involved than that. Our rubber reserve is at stake and unless you take the leadership in this fight, we are in real danger of being stopped in congress."

MacLeisch heartily seconded Henderson. The OFF chief declared that the president's unfortunate statement had hurt morale and that the whole gas and rubber problem had been badly mishandled.

"The people are patriotic and they will readily do whatever is deemed necessary to win the war," he said, "But they have got to be told clearly and frankly what is wanted of them. The public simply does not realize that gas has to be rationed, not because of a shortage of gas, but to save rubber. That's the message that must be got over to them, and, Mr. Roosevelt, you are the only one who can do it now."

Roosevelt took the plain-talk in good grace and agreed to do whatever was the best course. All the conferees were strongly of the view that a "fireside chat" was the best answer, and MacLeisch was directed to prepare a memorandum for a presidential speech.

War Story.

NAVY men returning from duty with the Pacific fleet relate this amusing tale about a colored mess boy on a destroyer:

The ship arrived at Pearl Harbor after an arduous cruise, and the mess boy was one of the first ashore. He headed for Honolulu, planning a big day, but was not prepared for the surprise in store for him.

A large number of members of the Hawaiian home guard are loyal Japanese natives of the islands. The mess boy hadn't been told about this. So he was greatly startled when he beheld two armed and helmeted Japanese guardsmen patrolling the Honolulu business section.

He made a bee-line back to his ship and rushed to the commanding officer, pop-eyed and breathless.

"What's happened to you, Sam?" asked the puzzled officer.

"Captain," gasped the mess boy, "we done arrived too late. The Japs has got Honolulu."

Sensitive Tax-Axers.

THAT secret huddle between Secretary Morgenthau and the senior members of the house ways and means committee, following his critical radio speech on the mutilated tax bill, wasn't as "harmonious" as Chairman Robert Doughton afterwards claimed.

Doughton opened the conference with a surgary statement about his "high respect" for the treasury chief and their "friendly relations." Then, glancing at a transcript of Morgenthau's speech, the veteran North Carolina congressman demanded:

"Just what did you mean by that 'too little and too late' remark, Mr. Secretary?"

"I certainly meant no reflection on this committee or its work in drafting the tax bill," replied Morgenthau. "I am surprised any such inference was taken. It was, well, er, just something to pep up the speech."

But Doughton remained unsatisfied.

"You were quoted in the newspapers the next day," he persisted, "that the speech was 'intended to prod the committee into action.' It that true?"

"It certainly is not true," replied Morgenthau, adding that what he had said was to the effect that he had hoped the speech would help keep the committee's eye on the treasury's tax goal.

"I am glad to hear your explanation, Mr. Secretary," said Doughton, "but while we are on the subject, we should get one thing straight. This committee hasn't been guilty of any delay in preparing the tax bill. If there has been any delay, that's the treasury's fault, not ours."

With a triumphant air, Doughton pointed out that the treasury had promised to have its tax plan ready by the first week in January, but did not actually submit it until March 6.

However, neither Doughton nor other committee members mentioned that long before March the treasury very carefully outlined its tax plan, merely submitted the final formal draft on March 6. Also committee members carefully avoided mentioning that for three months since March 6, they have been inexcusably dallying with the vital legislation and still are far from finished.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I once saw Bill Terry come to bat during a tense moment in a game between the Giants and the Cubs. Two men were on base and two were out. Terry swung hard, and dribbled an easy little roller to the box and was thrown out. The mob booed in disgust. Terry walked back to the dugout altogather unaffected by the boos. Later, in the same game, he drove a home run high and far over the left field wall. The crowd went wild. Terry walked back to the dugout without even knowing or caring, what the crowd was doing.

I SUPPOSE he was the only man ever identified with big league baseball who didn't gave a hang what the crowd thought of him. It wasn't a pose with him. It made absolutely no difference to him whether you liked him or hated him or were only indifferent. In this he was wise. Some players, indeed most players, are visibly affected by crowd reactions. When the crowd cheers they are in a sort of cocaine heaven. When it boos, they become morose and lapse into dejected moods.

Joe Dimaggio did this when he first came up to the Yankees. He hadn't learned, then, that the boos and the cheers, after all, were eggs from the same basket, and that a little salt with either forestalled a lot of mental indignation. Joe's hitting fell off and the mob got on him. He was hurt and bewildered. He couldn't understand why the mob that had made him a hero on Sunday were, by Wednesday, after his blood. This so upset him that his hitting went completely off, and for awhile Joe was in a dilemma. One of the ablest sports writers in New York commented on this, abusing the crowd for its rough handling of Joe on the grounds that it was unwarranted, and added "Joe can't take this and he shouldn't be expected to."

WHY couldn't Joe take this, and why shouldn't he be expected to? Why should he play into the mob's hands by caring what it thought? In his case, I don't know. Perhaps it was a matter of temperament. This much he knows now. When you're going good, you're a great guy. When you lose the touch, when you begin to boot chances at critical moments, you're a bum. It must be a thrill, I'll admit, to hear the roar of fifty thousand approving voices after you drive one out of the park. But the joker in the deck seems to be this: how long do you think the mob will feed you, or even remember your name, after you become a bum?

A Farmer's Diary

Two Dogs

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

JACK AND MIKE live on a neighboring farm. Mike is a diminutive wire haired terrier with a foretop that hangs into his eyes, a petulant disposition and a great desire to run the world. His untoward ambition finds expression in chasing motor cars—or did. Perhaps he has learned better.

Jack is a mammoth Labrador retriever—weighs as much as a man and stands half as high. His growl is a rumbling bass, his bark the same but his disposition is usually mild and kind — entirely obedient to his mistress' word. He spends much of his time at the barn across the traveled highway from the house—but Jack is wise regarding motor traffic. He watches with disgust when yapping Mike comes running out across the lawn toward the curving road in one of his vain attempts to impress somebody.

No love is lost between the two. Mike is jealous because when Jack does come into the house, he is treated as one of the family. Mike is, of course, too small to understand that a great frame like Jack's needs much more food, and rates more human respect and understanding than can be given to a sassy tiny dog with a mop of hair over his eyes.

One day, quite recently, when the young girl of the family, a high school miss, returned from "first aid" class, both dogs came running to meet her. Mike sprinted ahead, as usual, yipping with delight in a noisy fashion—Jack followed more circumspectly. At that moment a car came around the bend, and Mike was overcome by that old urge to run the world and went bounding toward it, wrathfully.

"Jack—stop him," gasped the girl, expecting momentarily to see her pet killed outright.

With a great leap, Jack crossed the intervening space and grabbed the terrier by the neck. He gave one shake—enough to tear the smaller dog's throat and start the blood. Then, with all the dignity of a big policeman or a good doctor, he carried the little dog and dropped him at his mistress' feet. It seemed as if he said, "Here he is! I had to do it to teach the brainless fool! Give him first aid, now, can you?"

And to the whimpering Mike, he added a grumbling growl—"Leave cars alone after this—you hear? Next time you'll make me mad."

Soldier's Prayer

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

I will not pray to feel no fear;
The bravest men must know
This evil thing that ever has
Been mankind's darkest foe.

I will not ask that I escape
This enemy, but I
Will ask to be prepared to meet
It, when it does come by.

My prayer will be that when this foe
From nowhere shall appear
My faith and courage will be great
Enough to conquer fear.

Let us have faith that Right makes Might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.—Abraham Lincoln.

Jeeps Coming to Mansfield Tomorrow, So Be Down Town

These will start from the R. E. Moorhead showrooms, one of the four sales points. Everyone who buys either a bond or war savings stamps will get a "Jeep Club" button. Salesladies will be 24 Mansfield girls costumed as "Minute Maids."

PURPOSE OF THE JEEP CARAVAN'S VISIT: To give Mansfield a first-hand view of these lightweight army cars that have become famous in the new World war. (If Richland county meets its June war bond quota of $387,600, that money would buy 408 Jeeps for the army.)

Bolin and Eliot have requested that residents display the flag tomorrow to add to the spirit of the occasion. A similar request has been made of merchants by V. H. Lodde, secretary-treasurer of the Retail Merchants association.

The Moorhead sales location will be the starting point for the Jeep rides, which will be six blocks long. Baird and Fred B. Hout will act as "starters." Other sale locations in the afternoon will be at the Richland bank, at Third and Main, and at Third and Walnut. Evening hours are from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., with two sales stations—outside the Ohio and the Madison theaters.

The question most frequently asked of the Jeep Day committee in the past week, is whether stamp books will be accepted on the purchase of bonds, and will entitle the purchaser to a Jeep ride.

"By all means, stamp books will be accepted," Bolin said. "And furthermore, the books need not be completed. If a person has a book with $15.50 worth of 25-cent stamps, he may turn it in, pay the difference in the price of a bond in cash, and receive a ticket for a ride.

"The thing to keep in mind is that war stamps count just as so much money toward the purchase of a bond. For example a 10-cent stamp is just like a dime, and a 25-cent stamp like a quarter. So use whatever stamps you have, and don't worry about completing the book before turning it in on a bond and getting a Jeep ride.

"The stamps turned in by a purchoser need not all be of the same denomination. In other words, he may have a partially-filled 10-cent stamp book, plus a number of 25- and 50-cent stamps, and may turn all of them in toward the price of a bond.

"With Richland county $50,000 ahead of quota in May, we feel confident that the county will meet its increased quota in June. We expect, too, that the Jeeps and the soldiers who drive them will have a mighty busy day in Mansfield because of the number of persons buying bonds.

"Anyone wishing to buy a $1,000 bond may telephone Moorhead's — the number is 4123-6. A Jeep will deliver the bond to the purchaser's home, if desired, or will come after the purchaser and bring him down to the central sales point."

A hostess will ride along with any child who gets a trip in the Jeep and is not accompanied by its parents. The Jeeps also have safety belts, Bolin pointed out for the benefit of those who have seen photographs of these little cars bouncing along over rough terrain.

The arrival of the Jeep parade here is under sponsorship of the Treasury Department and the Army Quartermaster corps, in cooperation with Willys-Overland Motors of Toledo, builders of the Jeeps to visit Mansfield.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the event includes Bolin, J. Kent Oberlin, Floyd Dent, James L. Eberly, Lee C. Smaltz, H. J. Hollingsworth, Baird, C. S. Fernyak, Eliot, Mrs. Louis J. Ott, Mrs. Tom Ford, and John A. Warden of Shelby.

Uniform Helps Marine to Lose His Old Shyness

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— Clothes might make the man, but a service uniform makes a man courageous, Actress Nancy Coleman discovery today.

Making her third picture—"The Gay Sisters" at Warner Bros.—since being transplanted from the New York stage, Miss Coleman was thus edified by a letter from a United States Marine:

"I lived next door to you in a New York apartment for a long time," the Marine wrote. "I never met you. I saw you play in 'Susan and God' several times, and although I worked on a newspaper, I never had the courage to introduce myself.

"I'm a Marine now. The uniform has done something to me. I'm full of boldness and bravery. So I'm writing this letter to ask for an autographed picture.

"My next letter will be asking you for a date."

Miss Coleman, highly flattered, promptly dispatched the picture. The date?

"We shall see about that," she said. "The uniform certainly has made him aggressive."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Rearrange Star Spangled Banner In New Low Key

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(INS)—Giving the Star Spangled Banner "back to the people" has met with an immediate and enthusiastic response, according to Dr. George S. Howard, associate professor of music in extension at the Pennsylvania State college, who recently collaborated in a new low-key arrangement of the national anthem.

Letters from musicians, civic leaders and "Mr. and Mrs. Average American," have been pouring in on Dr. Howard since it was announced that he and Major Howard Bronson, music office of the War department's special service division, had collaborated on a new A-flat arrangement that would be "easily singable."

All of the letters have the same tone—appreciation from men and women who for years have been getting red faces and cracked voices on those high notes that only a soprano can love.

Appear In 'Toyland Fantasy' Dance Production

Open Direct Mail Service Between U. S. And Iceland

REYKJAVIK—(INS)—The first direct mail service between the United States and Iceland was recently inaugurated, the forerunner of direct cable and wireless communications and a new measure of accord between the two nations.

Direct mail service is expected to cut down the time of letters in transit to two or three weeks. Previously ordinary mail between America and Iceland followed a vague schedule and was routed through England, often a matter of two or three months.

The new mail agreement does not affect the American forces in Iceland since the Army and Navy have been carying their own mail to and fro ever since the occupation.

Direct service is a part of a program of co-operation between the United States and Iceland which includes further direct communication and other measures to facilitate business.

Do This Every Morning For 30 Days

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts tonight. Start right in tomorrow morning and take as much as will lie on a dime in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast or in your morning cup of tea or coffee and keep this up for 30 days. Kruschen taken this way helps relieve such symptoms as sick headaches, bowel sluggishness and so-called bilious indigestion when due to insufficient flow of bile from the gall-bladder. You can get Kruschen, a famous English formula made in the U. S. A., at Hurl's Cut Rate Drug Stores, Wm. T. Hursh, or any drug store. You must be satisfied or money back.

CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS Note: For an occasional cathartic or purgative, to relieve common constipation, we believe there is nothing better than quick-acting Kruschen in larger doses—try it according to directions on the bottle.

PATRIOTS IN NORWAY FACE NAZI RIFLES

But Virtual Civil War Still Rages Against Hated Hitler Quislings.

(Editor's Note: Louis P. Lochner, chief of the former Associated Press and Wide World bureau in Berlin, turns the spotlight on occupied Norway in this eighth of a daily series for The News-Journal since his return from internment in Germany.)

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

NEW YORK —(Wide World)— To be a patriot in Norway nowadays means martyrdom.

There is virtual civil war in the German-occupied country, and the Quislings not only hold all the jobs but also have the protection of the Nazi gestapo.

Nevertheless, the patriots continue to stand by their guns. Story after story of personal courage, of passive resistance to Quisling stooges, of manly facing of firing squads trickled into Germany from Norway.

Executions are the order of the day for helping others to make a getaway to England, or even for young Norwegians themselves attempting to escape to Britain.

One electrician and one attorney were executed for "participating in a secret meeting." Two men were shot for "revealing military secrets and possessing arms illegally." At Drontheim four citizens were condemned to death for listening to foreign radio stations and spreading the news they heard. And so on.

Not until the close of the war, perhaps will the world know how many Norwegians have given their lives because they refused to accept Nazism and Quislingism.

The Lutheran bishop of Oslo and his six fellow bishops in other parts of the country resigned in protest against the Quisling regime. Specifically, they objected to the assault upon the dean of Drontheim, Fjellbu, whom a mob of Quislingites prevented from delivering his usual Sunday sermon.

Some 9,000 teachers in individual letters resigned in March from the teachers federation when it came under Quisling control, thereby risking cancellation of their pensions, or rights to pensions, and being drafted for compulsory labor.

The rector of Oslo university, Dr. Seip, was carried off to a concentration camp and put in solitary. For 24 days, in the Grini camp, he sat in darkness, living on bread and water.

So did also Einar Gerharisen, chairman of the Norwegian Labor party, according to reliable information received by the Zuricher Zeitung of Zurich, Switzerland. Gerharisen's "crime" consisted in distributing internee rations too liberally to his fellow prisoners.

The Swiss paper reported the concentration camps of Norway generally overcrowded. In one of them was one of 17 judges of the Norwegian supreme court who led the protest of the supreme court early this year against the Quisling-appointed department of justice's naming all jury members without consulting the supreme court. His 16 colleagues thereupon resigned and were replaced by Quisling henchmen.

All these measures have not been able to prevent acts of sabotage and other evidence of the populace's disagreement with Quislingism.

Even as Quisling was taking office as would-be dictator on Feb. 1, someone cut the electric wires during the parade of his followers before the Grand hotel, so that the reviewing party, which only a few moments previously had been floodlighted when it appeared on the balcony of the hotel, was shrouded in darkness.

Two days later there was a fire in the famed National theater. In the main university building a bomb exploded. There were explosions in both railway stations of the Norwegian capital. A dud landed on the Storting (parliament) building. One of the great rubber factories at Askim, a motor factory in Bergen and the docks at Lakesvag were set aflame by unknown saboteurs.

Secret little newspapers sprouted up. Illegal wireless stations started to broadcast facts unwelcome to the Quisling administration.

If Quisling ever had a chance of gradually winning the esteem of the Norwegian people despite his bad start, he lost it when, in his inaugural address as Hitler-appointed premier of Norway, he declared that Norway could not be a free sovereign and independent state but must permanently accept German control.

Meanwhile Norway is paying a heavy price for German occupation.

Norwegian circles in Stockholm, according to the Zuricher Zeitung, claim that the occupation costs until the midde of January totaled 3.9 billion Norwegian crowns (about $897,000,000 at pre-occupation exchange rates.)

This money was used not only for occupation costs but also for completing and improving the German military establishment in Norway, for constructing German fleet and air bases, and for building electro-chemical and metallurgical plants which Germany expects to control.

SPENDING QUADRUPLES

PRYOR, Okla.—(U.P.)—Merchandise sales increased 399 per cent during the month of March in this county over March of 1941. The two per cent sales tax raised $8,880, against $2,227 last year. Nearby defense industries were given credit for much of the increase.

Culver Graduate

Richard C. Schettler, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Schettler, 89 Brinkerhoff avenue, has returned to Mansfield after graduation from Culver Military academy, where he was enrolled for four years in the infantry unit. He was second lieutenant in his company, and received top honors and a medal in military history and drill. He was captain of his company basketball, football, swimming and track teams, co-captain of the baseball team, and captain of varsity cheerleaders.

College Speeds Medical Training Under New Plan

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — A further speed-up in the production of doctors by the University of California Medical School, marked by the graduation of the largest class in the history of the institution in May, has been announced.

In May, 111 doctors will be graduated and in June, the Medical School will go on a three semester per year basis.

The three semester basis will be compulsory and the training course will be cut from four to three years by the plan, according to Dean Francis M. Smyth. Pre-medical students are not included in the compulsory order but if they attend the three semesters each year, they will be able to receive their M. D. degrees in five years.

The large class is a combination of two classes. The year of internship has eliminated the year required for the M. D. degree, in the speed-up plan. The graduates will go to work in hospitals and relieve staff physicians for army duty.

SAWMILLS BUZZ TO NEW RECORD

SACRAMENTO, Cal. —(U.P.)— An all-time record for sawmill production in California was established last year when the state's pine and redwood forests yielded approximately 2,250,000,000 feet of lumber.

The California Forest and Range Experiment station and the Bureau of Census made a preliminary estimate showing that sawmills produced $2,241,640,000 feet of lumber products, an increase of 15 per cent over the amount turned out in 1940.

Seventy-five per cent of the record output was attributable to sawmills of the California pine region. The remainder was produced in the redwood area.

TEACHERS NO PROBLEM FOR MANSFIELD YET

Miller Says City Hasn't Felt Threat of Shortage; Other Ohio Cities Hit.

Mansfield schools so far have escaped the threat of a teacher shortage although the armed forces and war jobs are drawing heavily on the teacher supply in Ohio, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said today.

"No problem has developed here as yet, and we have had applicants for every vacancy," the superintendent said.

Meanwhile, O. E. Hill, assistant state director of education, announced that a number of the state's smaller schools will be closed and consolidated with other schools next fall because of the teacher problem.

Rural schools in Richland county and in other sections of Ohio are having trouble obtaining instructors for vocational agriculture and shop training and men music teachers. Experienced vocational teachers are finding good-paying jobs in war industries, while other men teachers have been called by the army.

The assistant education director asserted that it would be "good business" to close buildings that are not operating at capacity if consolidations can be effected. The Toledo board of education is considering closing 10 small schools in that city, he said.

The Mansfield board, like many others in Ohio, is employing women whose husbands are in the armed forces, after rescinding a rule against hiring married women teachers.

STUDIES LIFE ON THE CAMPUS

OLIVET, Mich. —(U.P.)— The student activities committee at Olivet college was curious about how the average college man spends his time each week, so a couple of members got out pencil, paper, graphs and allied paraphernalia and went to work.

The result: they found that he sleeps 56 hours a week, studies 23 hours, eats 21 hours, attends classes 15 hours, listens to the radio eight hours, reads six hours, goes to the movies four hours, gives four hours to athletics, plays cards 3½ hours, dances 2½ hours, writes letters one-half hour—and spends the other 24 hours attending "bull sessions" or doing nothing.

FIRE ON SEALS

ASTORIA, Ore. —(U.P.)— Pacific coast "guerrillas" are practicing on seals in the Columbia river.

Seal hunters, many of them members of the guerrilla bands which are being formed as a defense against invasion shoot the seals from the banks of the Columbia.

GET ORDERS TO SEND OUT MORE QUESTIONNAIRES

Draft Boards Told to Mail Occupational Blanks To Men 45 to 65.

Richland county selective service boards were asked today by state draft headquarters to mail occupational questionnaires to the final group of registrants—those from 45 to 65—within the next week.

Already swamped with questionnaires from younger registrants, the county boards do not plan to start mailing blanks on a large scale until the first of next week, giving them a chance to file those already returned.

Board clerks said some registrants misunderstood the purpose of the occupational questionnaires and think they will be exempt from military training if they return their questionnaires showing they are qualified for war jobs.

It was pointed out that the occupational blanks are being sent to all registrants who have not been called as well as those who are not qualified for army training. They are not in any way substitutes for the regular draft questionnaires which all registrants also will receive.

Information supplied by the occupational questionnaires is used primarily by the state-federal employment service to place men in vital war production jobs where there are labor shortages.

State selective service officials said today that a large number of war workers will be obtained from the ranks of men too old for active military service and those who have been rejected for service because of physical defects.

VOTE ON PENSION

OKLAHOMA CITY —(U.P.)— A constitutional amendment permitting payment of pensions to veteran teachers will be voted on in Oklahoma at the July 14 primary election. The state legislature would be entrusted with working out details of the teacher tenure law.

BIG NEWS! Foods fried this way actually as digestible as if baked

Make some and see if you ever had such wonderful doughnuts as Spry gives!

SEE how tender and light they are, how delicate-tasting. No grease-soaked foods, no unpleasant smell or smoke when you fry the Spry way. Grand for baking, too.

Raised Doughnuts

2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1½ teaspoons corn sirup
½ cup scalded milk
½ cup Spry
2 teaspoons salt
¾ cup corn sirup
2 eggs, beaten
5 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Crumble yeast into small bowl. Add lukewarm water and 1½ teaspoons corn sirup and set in warm place until it becomes light and spongy (about 15 minutes).

Pour scalded milk over Spry. Stir till melted. Add salt and ¾ cup corn sirup and mix. Cool until lukewarm. Add yeast mixture and blend. Add eggs and mix well. Add flour and knead to a smooth dough. Cover and let rise until double in bulk (about 2 hours). Roll dough ¼ inch thick and cut with 2½-inch doughnut cutter. Place on Spry-coated pan 1 inch apart. Cover and let rise in warm place until very light. Fry in hot Spry (360° F.) about 1½ inches deep until brown, turning once.

Test the fat (if you have no thermometer) with a 1-inch square of sliced bread. If it turns light brown in 1 minute, the temperature is right for frying. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 2½ dozen. Sprinkle lightly with sugar, if desired.

REMEMBER you can fry with Spry over and over

Save what's left, let it cool a little and strain into empty can. Thus Spry costs so little per frying that you can afford to use it often.

CHAPTER III

"I'm starved," she said, making no move to hide the scuffed hole in her dress, or the raggedy hem.

Elsa said, appearing to move without purpose but blocking Kay's way up the steps, "So are my guests. Mother's been paging you for the salad detail. Better scoot darling."

Ronnie Farnsworth frowned.

"How about you doing a bit of scooting yourself, useless" he said. "Kay and I have a date for a dance."

There was no doubt that Ronnie meant to be brusque. Elsa was confused.

"Oh," she laughed, nervously, "I . . . I . . . It's my party."

"Then take care of it," Ronnie said.

Tally standing at the top of the steps, found this scene to her liking. Someone was on the spot.

"Of course," she shrilled, "if there's going to be a brawl . . ."

Ronnie held Kay's arm. He laughed, but there was no mirth in his voice. There was cynicism.

"A girl with your love for digging dirt, Tally," he said, "should not bother with social gatherings. She should go find a gutter and wallow in it."

Tally began to swell.

"Ron Farnsworth," she cried, "you—you—you think you can do anything in this town. You think you're Mr. Big. Just because you have a wad of money and a tall position and the girls go for you."

"Who's brawling now?" Ronnie said, contemptously.

"If you don't mind I'd rather dance," Kay said, leading Ronnie up the steps.

The morning after Elsa's party was a grim one in the Kenyon household. Time to pay the piper. All that expensive food, the extravagance of spiked punch and hot-house flowers, of the latest dance records for the phonograph. They added up to a frightening sum, considering there was so little money with which to meet it. Not enough even, to take care of long outstanding bills, much less current expenses. Tradesmen were being more and more reluctant about taking orders, more and more insistent that they be paid for goods already delivered.

"Throw that stuff out." Mrs. Asa Kenyon, sullen and waspish, came to the littered ice box where Kay was helping her mother salvage left-overs with a view to turning them into dishes for the family consumption.

"But Cora," Mrs. Jim Kenyon explained timidly, "it's good chicken salad."

"Good?" Cora snorted. "With all that wilted lettuce messed into it . . . not fit for dogs to eat."

"We can take out the lettuce. There's plenty of salad for supper. It was perfectly delicious Cora, the best you ever made. With toasted rolls . . . there's enough rolls left too . . . and tea and the chocolate fudge cake for dessert, we can make out nicely without ordering anything today."

Kay took the salad bowl, from her mother and carried it to the kitchen table. She was in no mood for her aunt's sharp tongue, and the abjectness in her mother's voice made her feel a little ill.

"So it's come to this," Cora Kenyon snarled, crowding Ellen away from the ice-box. "We have a few of the young folks in for one of our girls, and we starve for days to make up for it. You'd think we was paupers, hanging onto every crumb left on the table. Kay, you make some toast and pour coffee and take it up to Elsa. She's got a headache."

Rebellion stirred in Kay. Elsa's headaches were matters of convenience. The custom of fetching and carrying for her cousin's whims was pretty ridiculous. Time it was abandoned.

"Sorry Aunt Cora," she said, leaning over the salad bowl. "I'm busy fishing lettuce. El's all right. She was treating herself to a lemon shampoo when I came downstairs, so her head can't be too bad."

"So you're impudent too," Cora flared. "It's not enough you made a hussy out of yourself chasing after Ronnie Farnsworth last night so that everyone could see how man-crazy you are. It ain't enough you hung on to him like a leech, so's he couldn't even get away to say as much as a by your leave to them he come to see. If your mother wants to let you be that brazen she can, but you ain't gonna talk back to me my fine Miss. No siree, not to me you ain't. I'll find a way to shut you up."

"Oh Cora," Ellen began. "I'm sure Kay didn't mean."

Kay went on fishing lettuce.

"Never mind, mother," she said, evenly. "Aunt Cora knows I was not being impudent. I'm merely serving notice that I'm no longer tray-bearer to anyone in this family except you . . . unless of course, someone is really ill. As for Ronnie, I don't know what's come over the lad. I couldn't drive him away. He hung to my heels like a pet puppy."

"Now, now, daughter," Ellen chided. "I'm sure Ronnie was no more attentive to you than to the other girls present . . . Elsa and Eunice . . . even to Tally, though the two of them never seem to get on together. I thought everyone had a perfectly splendid time, dancing and singing and walking in the garden. Young folks do enjoy themselves so thoroughly nowadays, they're so gay—and independent. I'll fix the toast and coffee Cora."

A low penetrating whistle sounded from the front of the house. One long blast and two short.

"Speaking of angels," Kay said, she went on with her task.

"It's—it's Ronnie?" Ellen Kenyon's voice revealed she hoped desperately it was not Ronnie.

Kay said, "Must be. He threatened last night to come over early and help clean up the debris. I told him not to dare. Oh, bother! There ought to be a law against callers before ten in the morning."

"You stay where you are," Cora's order to Kay was low pitched and purposeful. "I'll slip up the back stairs and let Elsa know he's here. She would be taking a shampoo, make a sight of herself just when . . ."

"Hi Red," the voice called in the front door. Red was Ronnie's special name for Kay on occasion. "Here's your merry little helper."

"Go away!" Kay called back.

"I won't," he said cheerfully. "I brought my own broom, mop, bucket. How's about a turn at the porch. It can stand a job of doing."

"Go away! I'll call my dog Rover."

"Please lady have a heart. I'm a burned match collector. All those lovely burned matches on your front porch—if you'll only let me brush 'em up, think what it would mean to a man who's spent his life looking for just this crop of burned matches."

"Ya, Rover, ya, Rover!"

"No use Red. Rover's out burying a bone I brought him. Are you coming out, or do I have to come into the kitchen and get you?"

Cora Kenyon had disappeared up the back stairs.

"You'd better go and speak to him dear," Ellen Kenyon said. "He seems very determined. Try to make him understand you're busy. Ask him to wait on the porch until Elsa comes down. With your Aunt Cora feeling as she does . . . Oh dear, I do wish young people had more—more restraint."

"Don't worry darling." Kay washed her hands at the kitchen sink, crossed the room, brushed a quick kiss along her mother's cheek. "I'll handle Ronnie, and Aunt Cora too. Ronnie is making himself ridiculous and Aunt Cora . . . ambition plus frustration seem to be turning her into a menace."

"You won't do anything foolish daughter, anything to offend Aunt Cora."

Kay hurried away before she was obliged to give an answer. How could she promise not to offend one who obviously was so determined to take offense? Aunt Cora's complaints, her tempers, her suspicions and resentments were becoming unendurable. She was beside herself with envy and self-pity. Something would have to be done, and soon. Impossible to go on living as they were, forever on the verge.

Ronnie's greeting to Kay was hilarious.

CHIEF OUTLINES SAFETY RULES FOR BICYCLISTS

Bell Suggests 12 Points To Remember Now That Bikes Are More Numerous.

Police Chief Thomas M. Bell today outlined safety rules for Mansfield bicycle riders to observe to avoid accidents in traffic.

"The bicycle has been regarded as a necessary nuisance in the hands of young riders," said Chief Bell but the war has changed all this by making the bicycle an important factor in transportation."

As an aid to bicycle-riders, young or old, Chief Bell suggests:

1. Obey all traffic laws, signs or signals.
2. Ride at the extreme right of the street or highway, with traffic—not on the left, facing it. Don't zig-zag.
3. Ride single file.
4. Keep both hands on the handlebars. Don't stunt.
5. Never hitch a ride on another vehicle.
6. Carry all packages in a basket or attached securely where they will not interfere with steering, peddling or vision.
7. Never carry a passenger on your handlebars.
8. Keep your lights in good working order.
9. Use arm signals when you turn.
10. Dismount and walk across busy corners.
11. Take it easy and be more careful than when driving a car.
12. Remember your bike is subject to the same laws as an auto and obey them.

CRAB PACKING A MAJOR INDUSTRY

ASTORIA, Ore — (UP) — Crab packing is developing into a major local industry.

A pack of 40,000 cases appears probable this year on the basis of reports that the Columbia River association will pack 20,000, the New England Fish company 15,000 to 20,000, and the Dunning Clam company 4,000 or 5,000 cases

Crab season extends from February to July.

Shelby Soldier Knows What U.S.O. Does for Service Men

A big party or an all-day trip into the mountains at the end of a week of hard work is something to look forward to, according to Private Robert Boreman, Richland county boy stationed at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

Boreman is another of the hundreds of Mansfield and Richland county service men who are "all out" for the USO. He returned to camp the latter part of last week after a 10-day leave spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Boreman, Shelby.

"The USO club in Chattanooga, which is our closest city, is located in the big municipal auditorium," Boreman said.

The thing that impressed me was that the city itself gave the U.S.O. its very best building for a service club for men in uniform. The big bands of the city donate their services for the U.S.O. dances and there is some sort of entertainment for us every night.

"A few weeks ago the U.S.O. arranged a party for 100 service men and 125 girls from the best families in Chattanooga. We were taken to a show place outside the city where there was outdoor dancing, swimming, all sorts of games and a buffet luncheon. Many Chattanooga families take a number of service men every Sunday for dinner or an all-day trip up into the mountains and scenic country around Lookout Mountain.

ROBERT BOREMAN

"Another thing the U.S.O. has done," Boreman said, "is to arrange with many restaurants there to serve free coffee to men in uniform and to serve us food at very reasonable rates, Believe me, that helps."

Boreman is on the personnel staff at regimental headquarters of the 65th medical regiment.

HUNT'S ON

Scientists Seek New Source of Cork for War Work.

SEATTLE—(UP)—A new and abundant source of cork for war production, to replace the war-closed European supply, is being sought in the forestry laboratories of the University of Washington.

Prof. Frederick A. Wangaard recently obtained usable cork from Douglas fir bark, but warned that considerable improvement in the process of recovery is needed before cork can become a commercial by-product of the Pacific northwest's vast timber stands.

Utilization of logging waste, with special emphasis on strategic cellulose products, also is being studied by forestry experts of the university in cooperation with the state planning commissionu.

CLOROX..."FIRST AID" IN HOME HEALTH DEFENSE!

WHY TAKE CHANCES! "When it's CLOROX-CLEAN it's hygienically clean!"

AN IMPORTANT problem facing America's leaders today is greater health protection in every home. For healthier families mean higher morale... increased efficiency... a stronger nation. One of the simplest yet most effective health measures is to make household "danger zones" Clorox-clean. Let Clorox provide "first aid" in the health defense of your home... simply follow directions on the Clorox label.

Clorox adds sparkle, freshness, and more important, sanitary cleanliness in kitchens! Germs in kitchens are easily transmitted, especially on dishes and glassware. That's why it is important to use Clorox regularly for disinfecting dishes, glassware, refrigerators, drainboards, sinks, dishcloths, dish towels and other "danger zones". Clorox deodorizes as it disinfects, removes stains too.

Bathrooms, too, need regular Clorox-cleansing! Washbasins, bathtubs, toilet bowls may look clean, yet harbor millions of dangerous germs Clorox disinfects, deodorizes, removes stains from tile, enamel, porcelain, linoleum, wood. Clorox has exclusive qualities... it is free from caustic, intensified in germicidal action... is effective yet gentle in its many personal uses.

HOME HEALTH DEFENSE IS ESSENTIAL TO NATIONAL DEFENSE

CLOROX is an important aid in Public Health Defense as well as in Home Health Defense! Clorox is used as a precaution against bacterial contamination of drinking water; for sanitation in restaurants, soda fountains, taverns, dairies and other food processing plants, in diaper laundries, for preparation of surgical solutions and for general sanitary uses in hospitals.

THEATERS

Plays Fiery Belle.

Hedy Lamarr has the role of the fiery belle of a California coastal pasiano settlement in "Tortilla Flat," filmization of John Steinbeck's book at the Ohio. The star plays "Sweets Ramirez," who works in a sardine cannery by day and hopes to transform a lazy, carefree pasiana by the name of "Danny," into something that resembles an industrious human being. John Garfield plays "Danny," and Spencer Tracy and Frank Morgan are others who top the cast.

Detective Thriller.

"The Kennel Murder Case," William Powell's starring picture at the Madison, returns Powell to the screen in the role of Philo Vance, the famous detective created by S. S. Van Dine. The action deals with the slaying of two men and the attempted murder of a third. Mary Astor, Eugene Pallette and Helen Vinson are in the cast. Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrae and Pat O'Brien are featured in "Gambling Lady," the second attraction.

Mystery Bill.

Preston Foster in "The Lady in the Morgue," with Patricia Ellis and Frank Jenks headlines the bill at the Ritz. "The Black Doll," Crime club mystery with Nan Gray, Donald Woods and Edgar Kennedy is the second attraction.

Orson Welles Film.

"Citizen Kane," the widely-discussed picture written, produced and directed by Orson Welles, the guiding spirit of New York's Mercury theater, opens at the Park today. Welles appears in the title role of a man who craved power over life, money and love more than he craved anything else. The picture covers 50 years in the life of a man who sought to control the nation and introduces some of the Mercury theater's talent including Ruth Warwick and Dorothy Comingore. Roy Rogers in "The Man From Cheyenne," is the second picture.

HITS 'FLABBIES'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(U.P.)— If Prof. Karl Sax of Harvard's botany department has his way, all "fat flabby, pot-bellied" university professors will take compulsory physical training.

Undergraduates began a compulsory exercise program April 6 and Prof. Sax believes faculty members should join them in their four-hours-a-week workouts.

Rubber Shortage May Bring Back Old Street Cars

OAKLAND, Calif.—(INS)—Like short skirts, the street car is coming back into its own.

First signs of this move appeared in Oakland a few days ago when the operators of one of the major transportation systems in the San Francisco bay area, was granted permission by the state railroad commission to substitute street cars for buses on one of its lines.

It was less than a year ago the company reverted to buses almost exclusively. The trolleys were put in the car barns to gather dust while the rails grew rusty.

Then along came Hirohito's men swarming over the rubber plantations of the East Indies and we had rubber rationing.

Revision to street cars, the company claims, will save thousands of "rubber miles" yearly, conserve tires and be more economical.

The state railroad commission expects many more such shifts to the old rambling street car in the immediate future.

Old timers in the bay region, who looked on in disdain when their favorite ferries were scrapped following completion of the spectacular San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, see in the swing to street cars the fond hopes the ferry boats may also come back into their own.

SPYING NOW A TOUGH JOB IN NAZI GERMANY

Court Martials Are Tough and Counter-Espionage Foils Spectacular Operators.

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF
(Wide World Writer)

(Editor's Note: Alvin Steinkopf formerly was a member of the Associated Press staff in Berlin. He recently returned to this country in the exchange of war prisoners with the Axis.)

* * *

Spying on Germany isn't the romantic business it was just a short while ago.

The war is getting too bitter. Tempers are short. The decisions of German military courts harsh and swift.

Not so long ago a few well-placed cocktails at a diplomatic tea might loosen some Nazi tongue. A little flattery might induce "someone close to the foreign office" to boast what he was going to do to Norway if it didn't behave. Or a clever woman might persuade some reserve officer to brag indiscreetly about "the secret weapon."

In fact, one such slip a year ago was broad and precise enough to give Russia a pretty straight tip that the Nazis were doing their diplomatic best to organize a "world front against communism." The unwary German official who made the slip barely escaped with his head, and was yanked from a soft bureaucratic post to the east front as a common soldier.

Convictions and executions for spying have been frequent. The men whom Hitler trusts are getting fewer and fewer, and they become increasingly taciturn.

Somewhere in Germany there may be a new Mata Hari, a glamorous creature able to wheedle secrets out of romantically inclined officers. But to a seasoned observer it does not seem that she is going to have much of a chance to distinguish herself.

There may be some playboys in the Nazi movement from whom the right girl might coax a little information. But such playboys aren't the generals nor do they have responsible posts in the war machine. The modern German general is about as crusty, hard-bitten and realistic a customer as it is possible to imagine.

There are doubtless, hundreds of spies inside Germany, engaged in the most dangerous of occupations. But it would be easy to exaggerate the role they are playing, or to attribute too much importance to their influence on military decisions.

There are, beyond question, a few full time spies, accredited to responsible agencies working for the defeat of Hitler. But most of the spies might be called part time workers. Individuals who hate Nazism or unprincipled persons who don't think much of Hitler one way or another but who are willing to sell vital information for a price.

What kind of information do these humble spies uncover? Usually it is of the most unromantic nature.

One individual whom this writer has reason to suspect is doing nothing more exciting than counting coal trains. He lives near an important railway line over which coal is transported from Germany to Italy. Italian industry is completely dependent on Germany for coal. And if the United Nations knew approximately how much coal Italy is getting they could make a pretty shrewd guess as to the capacities of Italian armament and munitions industries.

Watching the German transportation system betrays other war secrets. We were informed in Berlin, although we could not be quite sure, that similar humble spying on railways first revealed to the United Nations that the shipyards of Danzig started assembling submarines after increasingly heavy British raids disturbed building operations at Kiel and other western German ports.

Constant shipment of war materials eastward first led to the suspicion that Germany was withdrawing some of its industry from the Rhine valley. Destructive British raids on Rostock and Luebeck have been the answer.

The professional spy inside Germany sets himself up as a clearing agent for a lot of little tipsters. He puts the dabs together, reads newspapers with particular attention to what might be concealed between the lines, and listens to the speeches. How he gets the report out of the country is his own business which, at the moment, shouldn't be betrayed.

To the suspicious German official almost every foreigner is a spy. And news correspondents particularly were regarded dubiously.

Curious in this respect was the high morale attitude taken by the United States embassy in Berlin before Hitler extended his war to the western hemisphere. The embassy gave no military information to any British agency.

Despite the stringent regulations it's fairly easy to obtain bits of important military information in Germany.

But the spy's job is twofold. First he must get his facts. Then, equally important, he must get them out of the country and to their destination promptly.

A pat example of how the spy service of Germany's enemies lately did half its job, but was outwitted in the performance of the second half, is presented by the escape of the battleships Gneisenau and Scharmhorst and the cruiser Eugen from Brest.

Brest is as full of spies, amateur and professional, as any European city. When the three German men-of-war steamed from port perhaps hundreds of Frenchmen knew that the long awaited escape through the tight English channel was probably being undertaken. In evening hours the news spread through the city and even to other French communities.

But the spy services bogged down in delivering that news to England.

The maneuver of bringing home those three warships was more than a first rate military accomplishment. It was preceded by weeks of patient work by the counter-espionage service. Civil and military police had patiently hunted out most of the illegal radio stations which could get a message to England.

The wave lengths ordinarily used by others were jammed. For days in advance there had been the most painstaking control of messages leaving Brest by letter, telephone or telegraph. Then on the critical night Brest, so far as communications were concerned, was cut off from the world.

Deliberate slowing down of all communications, and of travel, is a part of the broad counter-espionage program. The idea is that hot news cools off quickly, and that a delayed report is as useless as no report at all.

Perfect A New Device To Test Oxygen Supply

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—The oximeter, newest device for testing the oxygen equipment for combat crews flying in the stratosphere, was developed recently by a member of the department of physiology of Cornell Medical college and the New York hospital, in collaboration with the aero medical research unit of Wright Field and the University of Pennsylvania.

The oximeter capitalizes on the fact that blood, which is taken from the lobe of the ear, changes color as its oxygen content changes. The device attached to the ear has a tiny excited-lamp on one side and a light sensitive photocell on the other. Blood normally saturated with oxygen is bright red, but as more and more oxygen is lost it shades off to deep purple. Purple passes less red light, so that changes in the oxygen content of the blood alter the intensity, and the change is recorded.

The oximeter is of value to aviation medicine, both in aero-medical research and for teaching flying personnel the hazards of anoxia, or lack of oxygen. Readings can be taken at will, within an accuracy of approximately 5 per cent, without interrupting test procedures. As rapidly as they are available, oximeters are being secured by army and navy indoctrination centers.

The earliest sea war tactic was to ram the enemy's ships.

House Faces Showdown Today Over WPA

THE WAR TODAY

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

The Japs, whose reputation for veracity isn't above reproach, claim they have been able to occupy western islands in our Aleutian chain of the Alaskan peninsula, and they emphasize this as having "pointed a sword at the enemy's throat."

Washington replies through a navy spokesman: "We have no information about any Japanese on Alaskan soil. Certainly none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

If the little men of Nippon are lying, who can blame them for trying to save face with their home folk in view of our great victory at Midway? Admiral Nimitz, commander of the U. S. Pacific fleet, discloses that our Midway forces routed an armada of over 30 warships and that perhaps half the vessels were casualties, with the resulting deaths of thousands of Japanese. That will take some explaining to the people of the Mikado's domains. The claim of a landing in the Aleutians may make the task easier.

We can't rule out the possibility that the Japs may have boarded some tiny, unoccupied rock. There are plenty of uninhabited spots among the volcanic pimples which form the islands in the western Aleutians where a Jap or a monkey could clamber ashore and hang on, though such a precarious perch would be a painful liability.

Should the Japanese capture Dutch Harbor they would create a serious position for us. They would have a base from which to strike at Alaska, prey on our shipping, and even strike at our west coast. Further, they would have us cut off from this direct communication with Russia and would have deprived us of a valuable offensive position.

However, the best they claim is occupation of something or other in the western Aleutians. That need not cause undue anxiety, for this part of the island chain is virtually uninhabited, since the volcanic rocks present neither strategic nor economic inducement to man, and the weather most of the year is unbearable.

WICKARD CALLS FOOD UNIT FOR FIRST MEETING

Committee Will Get Report on Production, Survey Nation's Requirements.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Wickard called the government's new wartime food committee together for its first meeting today to hear an optimistic report on production prospects in this country and to make a survey of prospective requirements for military, lend-lease and civilian needs.

The nine-member committee was created by the war production board last week to control the production, importation and allocation of all food supplies in the interest of the Allied war effort.

Wickard, the chairman, planned to lay before the committee a report that agricultural production prospects have rarely been better at this season of the year. The federal crop reporting board said that if the weather continues favorable, previous records of farm production may be exceeded considerably.

This picture was in sharp contrast with conditions in German-controlled Europe. Reports received by Wickard through state department and other channels indicate that continental Europe faces one of its darkest food production seasons in years, due to an unusually severe winter, a late dry spring, and shortages of labor, fertilizer, seeds, farm power and equipment.

Wickard, who has been telling American farmers they must produce to the utmost if vital food needs are to be met, said the crop report supplied "added evidence that the productive capacity of this country will crush the Axis."

"It is evidence also," he added, "that the farmers of this country are doing everything in their power to help win the war, doing it in spite of shortages of labor, machinery, fertilizer, transportation and other obstacles."

The secretary will be in a position to tell the food committee that prospects point to a bountiful supply of small grains—wheat, rye, barley, and oats—and of hay for livestock feeding next winter. A two-year supply of wheat is indicated. He also can report that excellent pastures promise further increases in the production of dairy products and beef cattle.

TAX EXPERTS ARREST SINGING BEGGAR WHO MAKES $100 A WEEK

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — The income tax people had a knotty problem on their hands today because Charles K. Hansen, street singer of patriotic tunes, neglected to report offerings which often amounted to as much as $100 a week

With the aid of Hansen's diary, the revenue agents set to work. They scanned such entries as these—Providence, R. I., $129 in 10 days; New Haven, Conn., $360 in less than three weeks; Niagara Falls, N. Y., $94.50 in less than 10 hours; Cleveland, $262 in three weeks, Columbus, $64 75 in two days.

Meanwhile, Hansen's abode changed from a cozy hotel room to a city jail cell where he must entertain himself until next Tuesday when he answers a charge of begging on the streets in police court.

Arresting officers found $373 in his possession. The 46-year-old singer from Hudson Falls, N. Y., used crutches while on business—his right leg is amputated—but in his room police found an expensive artificial leg.

Revenue agents said Hansen offered to settle the tax matter on an estimated $3,000 annual income, but they declined. He also was unable to produce a draft registration card.

The street singer's story was that following loss of his leg from blood poisoning in 1938, he quit a factory job and turned to the new occupation to get money to buy a chicken farm. But as the dollars rolled in, mostly in nickels and dimes, Hansen continued to sing —until Columbus policemen intervened.

WPB APPROVES OIL PIPELINE

World's Biggest Conduit To Be Built From Texas To Illinois.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The War Production Board has approved immediate construction of the world's largest petroleum conduit —a 550-mile, 24-inch pipeline from Longview, Tex., to Salem, Ill.—to increase the flow of oil to the east.

The pipeline is to be completed about Dec. 1 and will deliver 350,000 barrels of oil a day to the Salem area for movement east by tank cars, barges and Great Lakes tankers. Donald M Nelson, WPB chairman, said the line probably would be used primarily for fuel oil. There was no indication that it would bring any relaxation of eastern gasoline rationing.

Some officials expressed a hope that the line eventually would be extended from Salem to the New York-Philadelphia refining area. A Texas-New York line was requested by Petroleum Coordinator Ickes last fall, but WPB refused to grant priorities on steel.

The petroleum office is considering use of present pipelines connecting with railroad tank car loading points at Bridgeport, Stoy and Martinsville, Ill., and Lima, O. These points could handle approximately 150,000 barrels daily with existing loading rack facilities.

Another branch pipeline is planned to a still undesignated Ohio river point to deliver 100,000 barrels for transportation by barges to Pittsburgh for shipment eastward.

CONGRESSMAN SAYS HE WILL FIGHT FUNDS

Taber Opposes Allotment In Wartime of 280 Millions; Norton Wants Addition.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The house approached a show-down today on the question of wartime continuance of the long-embattled WPA which, at its peak in 1939 had 3,000,000 of the nation's jobless on its rolls at a cost of $2,230,000,000.

Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.), ranking minority member of the house appropriations committee, served notice that he would move to knock out a $280,000,000 allotment designed to provide WPA employment for an average of 400,000 persons monthly during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In the opening skirmish on the floor yesterday, WPA critics denounced the organization as inefficient, unnecessary and wasteful, Taber declaring the request for funds came at a time "when any man or woman willing to work can find employment."

He contended that approval of the appropriation would serve but one purpose—". . . so that the misfits who have made a mess of the WPA over the years may continue on the public payroll."

Rep. Cannon (D.-Mo.), committee chairman, argued, however, that the greater part of the money would be devoted to projects "in connection with the war program."

He said there were many sections of the country where the problem of unemployment had not been eliminated by war industry.

Rep. Norton (D.-N. J.), chairman of the house labor committee, said she would offer a motion to provide an additional $6,000,000 to maintain WPA nurseries to care for the children of mothers working in war industries.

The second part of the quota calls for knitted articles for the army and navy including 50 army mufflers, 22 turtle-neck sweaters, 18 sleeveless sweaters and 32 helmets for the navy.

Raps Ohioans Who Hoard Gasoline In Unsafe Tanks

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill is pretty peeved at motorists who hoard gasoline and store it without regard for state fire regulations.

"You would think gasoline rationing already is in effect in Ohio from the number of people who have stored gasoline in improper containers," Gill said.

He pointed out that unless a proper gasoline storage tank is installed, state regulations do not permit gasoline to be stored either within or without a city.

"There cannot be too much emphasis on this subject," he said, "as it not only involves the loss of property but possibly the lives of others."

Gill said that fires resulting from illegal storage would be listed as due to "sabotage."

Sweetening Up Father

SUMMER ICE CREAM . . . Father's Day Special

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Most men think it's a party meal when a frozen dessert appears. So why not make a real function when Dad's day turns up and serve a luscious ice cream or sherbet as last course for dinner?

Here are some frozen dainty recipes, worked out with Dad in mind.

⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup berries or fruit
4 tablespoons honey
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix milk with water, vanilla and salt. Add fruit blended with honey. Chill. Fold in cream and pour into freezer. When half frozen, beat 2 minutes. Freeze until stiff, about 4 hours. Strawberries, raspberries, peaches, pineapple, apricots, or bananas can be used as the fruit.

SUMMER ICE CREAM
APRICOT MOUSSE

Mix together 2 cups cooked mashed apricots, ⅔ cup honey, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon finely grated lemon rind, 2 beaten egg whites and 1 cup thick cream, whipped. Freeze 4 hours, without stirring. Serve, piled up in sherbet cups and sprinkle with pecans or other nuts.

GOLDEN ICE CREAM

Mix together 1½ cups sweetened condensed milk, ⅔ cup water, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup mashed bananas, ½ cup crushed pineapple and 1 cup orange juice. Chill and fold in 1½ cups thick cream, whipped. Freeze about 4 hours.

SUFFOLK ICE CREAM

Gets its sweetening from crushed peanut brittle. Beat 3 yolks in double boiler, add ½ cup crushed peanut brittle, 1 cup milk, and ¼ teaspooon salt. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Beat, cool and chill, add 1½ teaspoons vanilla and 2 cups cream. Freeze until stiff.

FRUIT CREAM

Beat 2 eggs in double boiler, add ½ cup sugar, ½ cup light corn syrup and 1 cup milk. Cook until blended. Stir constantly. Cool and add 1 cup cream, 1 cup crushed strawberries or peaches, ¼ cup lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon finely grated lemon rind. Freeze until stiff.

Try this dessert trick using commercially made foods. Line a large tray in mechanical refrigerator with thin slices of angel food or sponge cake, macaroons or halved lady fingers. Fill with ice cream bought at the drug store. Add a layer of berries or sliced fruit and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons honey. Cover with more cake slices. Place in freezing unit for 4 hours. Unmold and garnish with fruit, berries or flowers.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Tell him I'll be right there," my father instructed, then came back to me.

"Harry is calling," he said. "I'll come back and give you his message as soon as I have it."

He hurried out, and I sat tense and anxious until he returned.

"It wasn't Harry calling, but it was his message relayed by Miss Whitlock," he said. "There is no emergency, the nurse said, but they have had another telegraph message from the same people who sent the previous wire, so they want us to come over as soon as we can conveniently. Have you anything else to ask me, or to tell me?"

Gives Notes to Spencer.

"Only one thing," I told him, taking from my bag the stenographic notes which the state trooper had given me, and handing them to him. "On the way down the state trooper, under pretense of doing some work of his own, took stenographic notes of the conversation among the gangsters."

"This may prove invaluable," he said, putting the notes carefully away. "And now I must leave, after asking one more favor. May I send Ronald over here while you eat your dinner?"

"Of course," I answered. "I shall be glad to have him. And I believe it would be a good idea to take him with us to the Underwoods, if you approve."

"That is a matter for your decision," he said.

He left before I could frame an answer, and when he came back a little later he ushered in not only Ronald but Gus, with my dinner.

Then they left and I dined—Ronald already had eaten with my father. When I had finished I made him drink a cup of coffee with me, then spoke abruptly:

"Ronald, in a few minutes my father and I are going over to the Underwoods. I think you would better come along with us."

"Yes, I'd love to come," he said earnestly, and I saw that the prospect of going to the home of Marion's mother and stepfather had given a distinct fillip to his spirits. That lasted until we had traveled to the Underwood home in the armored car and been admitted by Miss Whitlock.

I had no time to give him then, however, for I was wild to get upstairs and find out what the wire to Lillian had been.

Restaurant Date Postponed.

"The message was signed the same as the other," Lillian said.

"It simply said 'Plan changed,'" she went on; "'meeting at restaurant scheduled exactly two weeks later, same place, same costume. Oh, what does it mean? That we shall know nothing for two weeks?"

"That doesn't follow at all," my father said. "Marion may be back with you in two weeks, although I am not optimistic on that point. But at least this means that she's in no immediate danger. Something evidently has come up to disarrange their plans; perhaps what happened today."

He then told them swiftly of my adventures of the day and of the return of Jack Bickett, assuring them that the gangsters knew nothing of Bickett's return or whereabouts, and that until they did they would hold Marion safely as a hostage.

When he had finished I saw him exchange quick, significant glances with Harry Underwood behind Lillian's back. Then he said blandly:

"Margaret, I wish you and Lillian would go somewhere and gossip for a bit. I have some things to talk over with Harry, if Miss Whitlock will permit me."

"If you don't talk too long," the nurse said firmly. Then Lillian and I went into her sitting room, and feeling that I needed to use the element of surprise, I spoke quickly:

"Lillian, dear girl, I must tell you now of someone who is most anxious to see you; someone who loves Marion as you do, who is working hand in glove wtih my father to try to solve this mystery."

Normal for Children To Quarrell

As Mrs. Myers and I go about meeting groups of parents and talking with them about their problems in the family we constantly hear the question asked about children arguing and fighting in the home.

We always try to get the questioner to see that children naturally quarrel and that undue parental concern and interference cause them to quarrel more. The quarreling usually arises from over-lapping of property rights or home duties, or from jealousies. While no one should hope to prevent all quarrelling among children, one might reduce it by looking into these matters.

Mother's Letter.

One mother writes:

"I have two children, a boy 15, and a girl 7 and they are good children at school and at play, but when they come home together, then the war is on. They fight every minute the two are together and I have tried to keep them from it but still they fight. I feel it is the older one's fault, more or less, as he seems to start it all. The girl had meningitis for two years and we had to be so careful of her. I wrote you about her and your advice was to keep things as quiet as possible. I tried to follow your advice and the family doctor's to the letter. As a result, I have been rewarded with a little girl that has almost rid herself of her stammering, nail biting and is building strong muscles with outdoor exercise.

"I feel I have failed with my past duty, and I have worked so hard not to be a failure, but I guess being a mother is too complicated for me. If being a child in this modern world is as tough as being a mother, then poor children! Let me have the works, both barrels at once, if necessary. Show me where I am failing and help me put a little starch in my spine and maybe I can take it."

The Doctor's Reply.

My personal letter to this mother included the following: You don't need scolding. You need a word of reassurance that you are not such a bad mother as you suppose. Indeed, you did a marvelous job with your little girl.

The very fact that the daughter was ill so long and seriously, compelled you to give her most of your attention, and Dad being away so much could not be on hand to compensate for this loss. The boy supposes you do not love him as much as the girl. Put yourself in his place and see how you would feel. This jealousy makes him pick on his sister.

Quarreling between children is normal in any family. You can reduce it, if you will see that the girl shall not infringe on the boy's rights, pry into his secrets, or tag along when he has his friends around.

Avoid rebuking him, if possible, in her presence, or praising her before him. Do not compare them. Try to cultivate more companionship with him and treat him as of his age, allowing him many privileges she cannot have, since he is so much older.

Do not expect them to play together; they live in different worlds. Help each one cultivate his and her own friends. Write me at 235 East 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it and let me send you, without cost to you, my bulletins on Jealousy and on Quarreling and Fighting.

Q. Should parents encourage their children to save money to buy defense savings stamps or bonds?

A. Yes, indeed. The plan is definite, the savings secure, and the contributions to character and citizenship of the very best sort.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE CORRECT ORDER

If you and your partner are going to try to ruff a trick in order to try to defeat the declarer, you must usually gain that ruff at the earliest possible moment, so that the declarer cannot drop your trumps before you have a chance to use them as you wish. That doesn't apply, though, when your side has something else to do in order to build up a defensive trick of another kind on which early action is even more important.

At most doubles of a duplicate game in which this deal was played, West led the heart 8 to the A and East immediately tackled the job of developing what he hoped would be two ruffs. He led back the club 6 to the A, trumped the return of the club 3 with his spade 2 and then led the diamond 4 to the Q. South, seeing his danger, led to the spade A, dropping the K, and then scored the club K and J, discarding his small diamond. He ruffed the club 4 with the J and then led to the spade Q, whereupon the club 9 was good for a discard of the heart 7, thus making his contract.

At another table, a very astute East, Mrs. Margaret Krick, of Easton, Pa., one of the stars of the recent tournament at the Skytop club in Pennsylvania, after winning the heart A, did not go after the ruff. Instead, she reasoned that a diamond trick would be necessary to beat the contract.

So she led her diamond 4 to the Q. Sensing his danger, the declarer led the spade 5 to the A in the hope of dropping a singleton K, but failed. Then came the club 4 to the Q and A and a return of the diamond J to the A. The club 2 to the K was ruffed then by the spade K, whereupon the diamond K was cashed, beating the contract.

by REX HESS

Well, and what is it that we have here, my friends? Two baseball teams in Mansfield? Two baseball teams of the hard ball variety? What is this midsummer phenomenon?

But it's true. You have my word for it, it's true. Who the teams are going to play may be another question, and I wouldn't profess to know all the answers, but the teams are there, just as sure as shootin'.

And who brings this strange thing to pass at a time when Mansfield had become reconciled to the idea of a baseball-less summer? Why, those two old warhorses of the diamond, Joe Atton of the old Liberty Parks, and Red Hamman, pilot of the old Ontarios.

Seems that Joe stood this diamond inactivity just so long, and then exploded.

"We should have a team to play for the USO," said Joe, and went out and got himself a team for just that purpose. It's composed of former Liberty Parks and graduates of the Junior American Legion and it seems to be a pretty fair sort of a team at that. And it's called the Mansfield Athletic Supplies.

* * *

Oh, Joseph, Joseph,
Joseph time is fleeting,
And there are fans who want to see you play,
Hurry up and get a game,
And the fans will watch the same,
Oh, Joseph, Joseph na-hame the day.

* * *

Now all is well and good up to this point, and the names of the players Joe got together have been printed time and again and should be well known to one and all.

Red Hamman looked over the list of Joe's players, and Red snorted and said certain words, which, expurgated, went something like this:

"Where are all those good players over the county who are still around and about? I betcha I can put together a pretty good team with what Joe overlooked, and that I will do."

* * *

So Red betook himself to Ontario, and to Lucas, and out Madison and East Mansfield way, and got himself a team. And it also looks like a pretty fair sort of a ball club.

But Red couldn't find any place to play, so he called his team the Mansfield Travellers, and the team will travel just as far and as often as it can in order to play a ball game.

And the upshoot of the whole thing will be (wait and see) that the Athletic Supplies and Mansfield Travellers will meet in a three-game series next August for the championship of Mansfield. Or maybe I'm dreaming.

* * *

Who are these players Red has rounded up? There's Bob Bogantz, regarded as one of the star ball players of this section, Gerish from Lucas, Hamilton and Martin from Bellville, Willard and Kenny Lockhart, Joe Miller, Lawrence Smith, Pat Patterson, John Heckert, Jack Elliot, the Ontario high school phenom, and Hamman himself.

They'll hold their first practice Sunday at 2:30 p. m., at the Fairground, and they're open for offers from the Athletic Supplies, Loudonville, Willard, Galion and Norwalk. Teams wanting games should write to John Heckert, 153 N. Lindon road, Mansfield.

* * *

Johnny Villella exploded this morning. The manager of the Mansfield softball All-Stars got a card from the Toledo Old Dutch Beers, formerly the Page Dairies, defending state champions, which said:

"We will have to have a $50 guarantee, Johnny, as this is a long trip and the boys do not like to use up their tires."

* * *

"They want 50 bananas," roared John. "This war is giving the boys a lot of alibis. I'm going to Canada tomorrow night for a week of fishing, and I'll think it over. Maybe I'll give 'em 50 skins, and if I do I'll give 'em a good beating too."

SCORES FIRST WIN

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Milky Way farms Dogpatch was credited with his first triumph of the year today after turning back the favored Fairaris in a stretch duel in the 16 running of the Shevlin stakes at Aqueduct.

Cramer Gets Hit No. 2,001

Paul Waner Needs Five Blows For 3,000.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

STEP by step the present stars of the major leagues are finding their way into the hallowed company of baseball's old-time all-time standouts.

The latest to earn a place on the permanent honor roll is Roger (Doc) Cramer, the Detroit Tigers' outfielder, who made three hits against the New York Yankees yesterday to lift his lifetime total to 2,001, a level that has been reached by only seven other players still active in the major leagues.

Dick Bartell of the New York Giants entered the 2,000 hit class in April and Mel Ott, Paul and Lloyd Waner, Jimmie Foxx, Joe Cronin and Charley Gehringer already were there. Joe Medwick and Billy Herman of Brooklyn have a good chance of qualifying near the end of the season.

Cramer reached it in his 14th year in the American league. Paul (Big Poison) Waner, in his 17th season, needs only five hits to total 3,000. Including Cramer, just 77 batters in the history of the major leagues have passed 2,000 hits, but only six have reached Waner's goal. Everyone that made it now is memorialized in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown — Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie and Cap Anson.

The three hits by Cramer were important, but they had nothing to do with the Tigers beating the world champions, 4-1. The blows that counted were a homer the fifth by Jim Bloodworth another by Ned Harris with on in the 11th.

It was the first time this year that the Yanks had been beaten in extra innings.

Paul Waner notched his 2,995th hit last night, but his Boston mates collected only three others off Rip Sewell, who pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-0 shutout over the Braves, their loss.

In another night game the New York Giants climbed into a third place tie in the National league by beating Cincinnati, 6 to 1. They're now even with the Reds.

Big Bill Lee acquired his eighth victory of the season as the Chicago Cubs rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to beat the Phils, 5-2.

Weather kept the Brooklyn Dodgers idle at St. Louis again.

The Boston Red Sox reinforced their hold on second place in the American league by trimming the St. Louis Browns, 10-3. All the losers' runs off Tex Hughson came on a homer by Mike Chartak.

The Chicago White Sox made the Philadelphia Athletics exchange places in the cellar by beating the A's, 4-1.

The Cleveland Indians, held scoreless for eight innings by Buck Newsom, moved ahead with a three-run rally in the ninth, but had to go 12 innings to beat the Washington Senators, 4-3, in a night game.

USE FRESHMEN

OXFORD—(AP)—Freshmen will be used by Miami university in all interscholastic sports, Athletic Director Merlin A. Ditmer announced.

Going Up---And Down Two

These two feminine divers are going down, but they're going up in the swimming world, too. Victoria Taylor, top, is 17 and the national junior diving queen. She took second to the senior champion, Helen Orlenkovich, in the nationals. Below is Patricia Elsener, 13, who was third in the national junior event. Both girls are performing for a San Francisco club.

Armour Fails to Qualify But He's Invited to Play

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK —(INS)— Tommy Armour failed to qualify but will play by special invitation in the Hale America Open at Chicago June 18-21.

* * *

That terse announcement today scarcely tells the whole story of a glamorous fellow, whose career has taken him over all the important golfing highways and to most of the great honors available to those who pursue the contrary little ball with a sack of golf canes. His story, in fact, goes all the way back to the other World war.

* * *

They used to call him the "Black Scot" but the years have changed that to the "Silver Scot," and they tell stories in every locker room about him as though he, like Hagen and just one or two others, was already a legendary figure, as well he might be among those who regard golfing perfection as the highest goal to be attained by man. Mr. Armour himself has no such silly illusions, for he turned to golf professionally after he had finished preparations at Edinburgh university for a legal career and after he had helped fight a war with the Black Watch.

Golf to him was simply a way to a pleasant livlihood, and as far as anybody knows he hasn't had reason to regret his choice of a career.

He lost the sight of an eye in that fighting more than 20 years ago, but came to be ranked in Scotland among its best internationalists in amateur golf, and progressed from there to the championship in virtually every major tournament after he turned professional.

He won the U. S. Open in 1927, the U. S. National Professional title in 1930, the British Open in 1931, the Canadian Open three times, the Western Open with a record low score and most of the others and is among the few so far elected to golf's hall of fame.

He also has taken his place among the great teachers of the game and once was recipient of a lasting tribute from Lawson Little, who gave Armour as assist on Little's famous slam of 1934 and 1935—victories in the British and U. S. amateurs two years in a row. Little also, of course, won our National Open in 1940 with a good sound game that Armour helped him build back when Little was wild with his shots and needed help. Armour showed him the way.

Wherever you find Mr. Armour you also find an audience, whether it be out at the Medinah Country club, there he holds forth as a tall, lean-framed oracle, or in the clubhouse at Augusta for the Masters or some other course during some other major championship. He will be talking baseball or boxing, quoting batting averages and pitching percentages and holding forth day after day.

Mr. Armour is now 47 years old, but still capable of making great shots here and there and he remains a favorite with the gallery everywhere.

* * *

They did the natural and proper thing in inviting him to play in the Hale America along with Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen and all the other great ones of the past and present, even though he did fail to make the grade in his Sectional Open.

* * *

The Hale America will be better for the added touch of tradition that Armour brings to it.

Indians Show College Try

Win Second Overtime Game Under Lights.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—That old college try, which means a bitter fight until the last man is out, seems to be one of the main differences between the Cleveland Indians of today and yesteryear. It has them in third place, a half game behind Boston and three percentage points ahead of Detroit.

For two nights running the Redskins have won extra inning ball games by one run, last night's victory over the Washington Senators being a 4 to 3 triumph which went 12 innings. At this time last year the Tribe was forming the habit of fading toward the end of the game, and even blowing considerable margins.

* * *

Manager Lou Boudreau seems to have instilled into the team the same attitude he worked with while coaching at the University of Illinois. He uses pinch hitters freely, and changes pitchers if he thinks the one on the hill might slip.

When the Tribe came to bat in the ninth last night, they trailed the Senators 2 to 0.

The fireworks started with two out. After Weatherly's safe hit, Kenny Keltner singled, and he and Weatherly scored when Jeff Heath tripled, tying the game. Heath made it 3-2 when Fleming singled.

* * *

The Senators pushed one across in the next frame to even things up. The Indians wrapped up the game in the 12th frame. With one out, Mack and Otto Denning singled, and Mack, who had gone to third on Denning's hit, crossed the plate on an infield roller.

COACH AT LIMA CENTRAL FIRED

LIMA —(INS)— Lima Central high school was without a football coach today following the dismissal of Morgan Jones. The board of education gave no reason for the dismissal and failed to heed the nine members of the varsity squad who appeared before the board in their coach's behalf. The nine gridders also had a petition signed by 25 of the other members of last year's team.

Reds Fail to Hit In Clutch

Drop Second Straight to New York Giants.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — It seems there's more to looking good in the National league than winning six straight from the Boston Braves and losing a pair of tight ones to the Phillies.

The Cincinnati Reds may conclude that after dropping their second straight to the New York Giants, who apparently hadn't heard of the rejuvenation of the Cincinnati pitching staff.

The score last night was New York 6, Cincinnati 1, and it was the same old story—no hits with men on base. The Reds left 11 stranded.

* * *

However, the Giants, behind the steady pitching of Hal Schumacher, rapped out timely hits despite Johnny Vander Meer's feat of striking out eight men in seven innings. In the eighth they climbed on Ray Starr and Joe Beggs.

The victory brought the Giants into a third-place tie with the Reds.

The Reds and the Chicago Cubs will put on a show for their army-navy relief efforts June 30. There will be a doubleheader, starting at 6 p. m. with a picked Red-Cub team playing the Great Lakes Naval Training Station outfit. A demonstration of battle action by troops from Fort Knox, Ky., also is scheduled.

The Cubs and Reds will play a regular game, too.

CHANGE JOBS

WASHINGTON, Pa—(U.P.)—Warren Henry (Moose) Fralick, a pitcher with Springfield, O., of the Middle Atlantic league, today was the new manager of the Washington Redbirds baseball club, replacing George Jenkins. Jenkins will report to Springfield as a pitcher.

Toledo Joust Opens Today

Little and Mangrum Shoot 62 In Practice.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Sixteen of the nation's top golf professionals offered the gallery a sample of their wizardry as the eighth annual Inverness four-ball tournament opened today.

The pros, scheduled to begin firing late today for $7,650 in prizes in round-robin best ball matches, staged a golf clinic with each demonstrating his favorite shot.

Eyes of the galleryites were on Lawson Little, winner of the American and British amateurs in 1934 and 1935 and the National Open crown, and his partner, Lloyd Mangrum.

* * *

The duo slammed out a brilliant 33-29—62 in a practice round yesterday, nine strokes under par despite bogies by both on the first hole.

Today's pairings:

Horton Smith and Melvin "Chic" Harbert vs. Jimmy Hines and Herman Brown; Henry Picard and Sam Byrd vs. Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper; Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan, last year's champions, vs. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison and Denny Shute; and Byron Nelson and Jimmy Thomson vs. Mangrum and Little.

Bob Kuzava Wins Seven Straight

ERIE, Pa.—(AP)—Erie, in the cellar spot less than a month ago, was tied with Zanesville for second in the Mid-Atlantic loop today after downing Canton 10 to 2 last night. The Sailors aim to cut down league-leading Charleston's four and one-half game margin when the teams meet tomorrow and Saturday.

* * *

Bob Kuzava of Charleston, former Mansfield Brave, chalked up his seventh win against no losses in pitching the Senators to a 2 to 1 victory over Zanesville.

Despite two homers by Dayton Outfielder Len Pill, Springfield defeated the Ducks 5 to 3. Jack McClain, former Ohio State university star now with Springfield, hit for the circuit to tie the count in the seventh.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—An idea—and a big hand. . . . When an army detachment moved in at the field where West Seattle high school athletes perform, the kids looked around and saw that the soldiers were shy on athletic equipment. . . . So they passed the hat and collected $38.92—not a lot, but enough to get a few games going. . . . Most of you folks have an army or navy outfit somewhere near, so how about taking a tip from the high school kids? . . . Charley Hunter, the San Francisco Olympic club coach, predicts that Cornelius Warmerdam will achieve that 16-foot pole vault during his coming eastern tour, if the weather is hot enough. . . . Hunter says Connie finally has mastered vaulting with a 13-foot ten-inch grip.

SERVICE DEPT.

The marines have landed: When Marine Sergeant Farmer Seale, former Birmingham sports writer, learned that his outfit was trailing the army and navy in this dept., he passed the word along and a memo from southern recruiting division headquarters suggested contributions were in order. . . . The next mail brought the news that a detachment led by Staff, Sgt. Herbert Breeden, who used to play football for Ole Miss, had invaded Rollins college in Florida and signed up the entire first string grid team for the Marine Corps reserve. . . . Word comes via the Sporting News that army baseball at Fort Riley, Kan., carries the light touch. When Pvt. Ed Cole, former Brownie, was pitching a night game against a semi-pro club, the opponents protested because Cole's army identification tag had slipped outside his shirt and the reflection was bothering the batters. . . . And when the lights were turned on at 9 p. m. for another game, Pvt. Joe Cantenbein, formerly of the Athletics, wisecracked: "Any errors made by our club this evening won't be coincidental; in the barracks they turn out the lights at this time."

Westies Run Wild In Loop

Other Games See Some Close Battles.

City league softball games continue to be close, except where Westinghouse is concerned. The Westies are running wild.

Last evening they trounced Humphryes 12-3 as Aid Geiger turned in another neat mound turn, and Harry Ross drove a prodigious homer far over the head of the Humphryes left fielder.

Bob Bogantz hit two home runs in his three for four line as he paced Tappan's to a 10-8 victory over Art Rattan.

Ideal Electric barely edged Teaco 9-8 in a game that saw seven runs cross the platter in the ninth frame. They were all tied up 5-5 when Teaco pushed over three runs in the ninth and appeared to have the game in the bag. And back came the Electrics with four runs and an Ideal finish.

Local 758 chalked up an 8-6 victory over Hughes-Keenan after getting away to a 7-0 lead in the first three stanzas.

Sing Sing Signs Hitting Fielder

OSSINING, N. Y. —(INS)— The Sing Sing baseball team today acquired a hard-hitting outfielder.

Boasting a life-time prison batting overage of .450, Jerome Milner has an iron-bound contract which may keep him at that penal institution between 15 and 30 years.

Milner, whose batting prowess gained the attention of the late Lou Gehrig, was returned to his "alma mater" for his participation in a tavern holdup. Gehrig sent the convict several baseballs when he served on the 1934 Sing Sing nine.

* * *

His attorney, Joseph C. Thomson, said Milner will lead a Bible class for fellow prisoners besides performing his outfield chores.

Brewers Improve Loop Position

(By Associated Press)

Another postponement kept the Kansas City Blues, current kingpins of the American association, idle again last night and Milwaukee seized the opportunity to improve its second place position.

* * *

Facing Louisville, the Brewers found it no cinch, and it took Leftfielder Bill Norman's clout over the left field fence to turn the trick, 4-3.

In the loop's only other contest, Toledo beat St. Paul, 10 to 3.

ORDINANCE NO. 42-114

By Mr. Kyle:

Authorizing Blackout and Air Raid Protection Orders, Rules and Regulations; Prescribing Penalties for Violations Thereof; and Declaring An Emergency.

WHEREAS, A state of War exists between the United States of America and Japan, Germany, and Italy, and the defense of the United States of America is in the hands of the Army and Navy; and

WHEREAS, In modern warfare no City, however distant from the enemy, is free from attack; and

WHEREAS, Lights at night are a definite aid to the enemy in reaching military and other objectives; and

WHEREAS, Blackouts, when ordered by the Army or Navy are essential to the preservation of life and property in this City, and it is imperative that the City of Mansfield, Ohio, aid the Army and Navy by all possible cooperation and assistance; and

WHEREAS, Failure to extinguish lights when ordered to do so by duly authorized authorities may result in loss of life by thousands of the residents of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, as well as the residents of other parts of the Nation when lights in this City are used as a guide to other objectives;

WHEREAS, Failure to comply with orders, rules and regulations governing evacuations, traffic movements, congregation of persons in streets and other public places will result in confusion and unnecessary loss of life both during blackouts and during air raids in the daytime, now therefore,

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield State of Ohio.

SECTION 1. AUTHORITY TO PROMULGATE NECESSARY ORDERS, RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR BLACKOUTS AND AIR RAIDS. In order to protect life and property in the City of Mansfield from enemy action the Mayor is authorized and directed to carry out blackouts and air raid protection measures in said city at such times and for such periods as are authorized or ordered by the Army or Navy and to promulgate such orders, rules and regulations as may be necessary to insure the success of the blackouts and air raid protection measures and to protect life and property during said periods. Said orders, rules and regulations shall include traffic movements of emergency or other vehicles, evacuation of residents, congregation of persons on public streets, sidewalks, and in public places or buildings, but this enumeration shall not be taken as a limitation on the power to promulgate orders, rules, regulations governing any other subject, persons or property which must be regulated in order to insure the proper carrying out of any duly authorized blackout or air raid protection measure. Practice blackouts and air raid drills may be carried out at such times and for such periods as the Mayor shall in his discretion deem appropriate or necessary, but subject always to the orders and directions of the Army or Navy, and the orders, rules and regulations authorized herein.

SECTION 2. GENERAL ORDERS, RULES AND REGULATIONS TO BE IN WRITING. All orders, rules and regulations authorized by this ordinance for the conduct of the general public shall be in writing and shall be available for public inspection at the place and during the hours fixed by the Mayor.

SECTION 3. ORDERS, RULES AND REGULATIONS EFFECTIVE UNTIL REPEALED BY COUNCIL. Any order, rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to the authority conferred by this ordinance shall be in force and effect from the time of promulgation until amended or repealed by the Mayor or until repealed by the Council of the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

SECTION 4. APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL POLICE IDENTIFYING EMBLEM. The Mayor may appoint for a specified time as many special police, without pay, from among residents of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, as may be deemed advisable for service in connection with any blackout or air raid protection measure. During the term of such special police, they shall possess all the powers and privileges and perform all the duties of privates in the standing police force of the City of Mansfield, Ohio. Said special police must wear such identifying emblems as may be prescribed by the Mayor and it shall be unlawful for any said special policeman to attempt to carry out any order, rule or regulation promulgated under the authority conferred by this ordinance when he is not wearing said identifying emblem.

SECTION 5 UNAUTHORIZED WARNING OR ALL-CLEAR SIGNALS PROHIBITED. Any unauthorized person who shall operate a siren or other devise so as to simulate a blackout signal or air raid, or the termination of a blackout or air raid, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this ordinance and shall be subject to the penalties imposed by Section 10 of this ordinance.

SECTION 6. NO MUNICIPAL OR PRIVATE LIABILITY. This ordinance is an exercise by the City of its governmental functions for the protection of the public peace, health and safety and neither the City of Mansfield, Ohio, the agents and representatives of said city, or any individual, receiver, firm, partnership, corporation, association, or trustee, or any of the agents thereof, in good faith carrying out, complying with or attempting to comply with, any order, rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance shall be liable for any damage sustained to person or property as the result of said activity.

SECTION 7. LIGHTS DURING BLACKOUT DECLARED PUBLIC NUISANCE. Any light displayed contrary to any order, rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to the provisions of this Ordinance constitutes a public nuisance and when deemed necessary in order to protect life or property during a blackout or air raid the police, or the special police authorized herein, are authorized and directed to enter upon any premises within the City of Mansfield, using reasonable force, and extinguish lights or take other necessary action to make effective any order, rule or regulation promulgated under the authority conferred by this ordinance.

SECTION 8. CONFLICTING ORDINANCES, ORDERS, RULES AND REGULATIONS SUSPENDED. At all times when the orders, rules and regulations made and promulgated pursuant to this ordinance shall be in effect, they shall supersede all existing ordinances, orders, rules and regulations insofar as the latter may be inconsistent therewith.

SECTION 9. NO CONFLICT WITH STATE OR FEDERAL STATUTES. This Ordinance shall not be construed so as to conflict with any State or Federal statute or with any Military or Naval order, rule or regulation.

SECTION 10. PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance or any order, rule or regulation issued pursuant thereto shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both said fine and imprisonment.

SECTION 11. SEPARABILITY OF PROVISIONS. It is the intention of the City Council that such separate provision of this Ordinance shall be deemed independent of all other provisions herein, and it is further the intention of the City Council that if any provision of this Ordinance be declared to be invalid, all other provisions thereof shall remain valid and enforceable.

SECTION 12. For the reason that a state of War now exists between the United States of America and certain European and Asiatic nations, thereby creating a hazard in that there is an immediate and constant threat of attack by enemy aircraft, this ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure and shall be in full force and effect immediately upon its due passage and approval.

U. S. Steel, du Pont Also In List of Gainers; Building Contracts Near Record.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Narrowly mixed price changes left today's stock market direction in doubt.

On the upside were Montgomery Ward, General Electric, U. S. Steel, General Motors, du Pont and Dow Chemical. Small losers included Santa Fe, Goodyear, Douglas Aircraft, Chrysler and American Can.

Financial quarters viewed as constructive the Dun and Bradstreet summary disclosing bank clearings in 24 cities for the week ended Wednesday exceeded the previous holiday-shortened week and were 7.5 per cent above the like 1941 period.

Some encouragement was derived from the survey of the Engineering News-Record which estimated heavy building contracts for the week concluded Tuesday were the second largest on record, topping the preceding week by 38 per cent and the comparable week last year by 171 per cent.

County, District Candidates Present Petitions; Friday Last Day for Filing.

Mary B. Show, Democrat, and Mae Cole, Republican, filed today for the state central committeewoman posts in the 17th district.

In Richland county, C. L. Shoup of Plymouth township became the second Republican to file for county commissioner. John C. Friday, a former commissioner, had already filed.

The Ashland county Democratic executive committee today had endorsed Charles M. Beer of Ashland for 17th district state central committeeman over Freer Bittinger, the second candidate for the office.

Beer, supported by E. B. Kallmerten, Mansfield, who is completing his term as district committeeman, attacked Bittinger on the grounds that he upset the party's rotary plan of choosing committeemen, taking the candidacy away from Knox county which should have had it this year. Both Beer and Bittinger have filed for committeemen.
